

GREATEST RAID ON STOCK EXCHANGE IS FOILED

THREE ARRESTED FOR SERIES OF RECENT THEFTS

Kaemp Brothers And Clyde Veith Confess, Report

Frank and Russell Kaemp, residing in the southwest part of the city, and Clyde Veith of Grand Detour are under bonds of $2,000 each in the county jail on charges of larceny, their apprehension resulting from an all-day investigation into two robberies which were reported at the office of Sheriff Fred Richardson early Friday morning.

The service station of J. A. McCullough on state highway route 89 about 12 miles south of Dixon was broken into and robbed at an early hour yesterday morning. Practically all of the loot taken in this robbery has been recovered as the result of the arrest of the two Kaemp brothers and Veith.

On March 27, two new tires were stolen from a truck belonging to Lee Hemphill who resides on the farm of Mrs. R. R. Hess, four miles south of Dixon on the Pump Creek road. The trio rounded up yesterday afternoon are said to have confessed to the theft of the two tires.

Russell Kaemp and Clyde Veith were arrested shortly before noon yesterday while returning to Grand Detour when they were stopped by Deputy Ward T. Miller and taken to the county jail to be questioned. The two young men are said to have confessed to the theft of the two tires, which they sold to Albert Sherman of this city.

Pennies Gave Clue. At noon yesterday, while investigating Veith's car, Sheriff Richardson discovered many pennies in a side pocket and wrappers from candy bars which led to his suspecting the McCullough service station robbery. State's Attorney Mark Keller was called to the county jail and by mid-afternoon both Veith and Russell Kaemp had confessed to the robbery and implicated the older brother of the latter, Frank Kaemp, who was taken in custody by State's Attorney J. D. Van Bibber and turned over to the sheriff. Many of the stolen articles were found hidden at the Kaemp home late yesterday afternoon it was said and still more was found beneath a car in the county where they had been concealed by Veith.

Charges were preferred before Justice Grover Gehant charging larceny in all three cases and the trio waived preliminary examination and were held to the grand jury, which reports Monday, under bonds of $2,000 each. In default of the amount the trio are being detained at the county jail.

According to the alleged signed confessions, Frank Kaemp drove his car early yesterday to the McCullough service station where Veith and Russell Kaemp broke the lock on the door, entered the small structure and ransacked it. The lot was brought back to the Frank Kaemp home in Dixon where it was secreted until found by the officers yesterday afternoon.

State Highway Patrolman Victor Wendendorf of Oregon was in Dixon this morning checking up on two gasoline station robberies in Ogle county, which were traced to the three men taken in custody yesterday afternoon. On Wednesday night the service station near the entrance to the Pines State Park, was broken into and ransacked. The following night another service station near Stratford was robbed of a confectory, tobacco and gasoline being taken.

Admits Other Crimes. In the investigation today, it was reported that Veith and Russell Kaemp confessed to both of these robberies, in connection with their crime wave of brief duration in Lee county. Both were said to have driven to the Pines station Wednesday night at a late hour in Veith's car, where entrance was gained by using a skeleton key, and the stock ransacked, cigarettes and candy being taken.

The following night, the confessions stated, the two went to Stratford and crawled through an unlocked window of a small station west of the village, where they took candy, cigars, and pop. It was also reported that another effort to rob a station at Stratford was undertaken by that the pair were frightened away when lights were turned on in a nearby house. At the station near Stratford a lock was pried off a gasoline pump and several gallons of the contents pumped out. Veith is said to have admitted taking the gasoline today.

Two Dry Agents Held For Murder. Dallas, Texas, April 9.—(AP)—Murder charges were filed today in state court against N. D. Heaton and L. C. Smith, Federal Prohibition agents, in connection with the fatal shooting last night of Marion McGuffin, gasoline station proprietor.

Negotiations With Baby Kidnapers Fail

Small Runs First In Streator Straw Vote

Len Small as the chief hope of Republican party adherents is seen as a result of the Streator Times-Press straw poll, conducted on the streets of the downtown section Saturday afternoon and evening.

The general order of their standing gives Len Small first place in ballots cast for any candidate, for any office.

Small, running far in the lead of Republican gubernatorial candidates received a total of 194 votes. Custer received 120 votes to claim second position.

Small ran far ahead of Custer, although Carlstrom came within menacing distance of the latter with 90 votes to his credit. Igoe was out in front in the Democratic sector for governor with Horner next in line with 73 votes.

Nine counties were represented in the poll, as follows: Henry, Cook, Winnebago, LaSalle, Marshall, Livingston, Grundy, Woodford and Bureau.

The ballot boxes were in charge of the Times-Press staff members who maintained a strict rule against repeaters and it can be safely stated that "stuffing" of any character did not enter into the poll.

The vote as tabulated is correct in the same spirit in which it was conducted.

The Times-Press feels that the vote is representative, and that feeling to the extent expressed by the ballots for the present is in the direction indicated by the poll.

Len Small led the straw vote taken by the Herrin Daily Journal for the Republican candidate for governor.

Votes in Monday's straw vote were taken on the street and every passerby was solicited to cast his ballot in the Journal's straw vote.

The tabulated vote is as follows: Small 124 Carlstrom 27 Custer 20 Clayton 1 Malone 1

The votes included a large number of women. The Journal started a straw vote system which was intended to result in a cross section of the political attitude for governor in Williamson county.

INVENTOR NEW FOOD PRODUCT NOW AT PLANT

Thos. Nixon In Charge At Oats Products Corp. Factory

Thomas C. Nixon, inventor of shredded wheat biscuit and of the new toasted oat flakes, which will be a leading product of the Oats Product Corp., which recently acquired the old Universal Oats properties in this city, arrived in Dixon from Chicago today to spend several days at the plant supervising mechanical alterations and installation preparatory to putting the plant in operation in the very near future.

Mr. Nixon, who is a member of the corporation, will have personal charge of the manufacture of all of the company's output, including his new product, in which leading food products wholesalers are manifesting encouraging interest.

The inventor and President Dyke of the corporation have received the bill of the plant supervising mechanical alterations and installation preparatory to putting the plant in operation in the very near future.

The officers of the company are now engaged in completing organization and sale of $75,000 of the corporation's $100,000 capital stock, which will be 6 per cent cumulative participating. Several subscriptions for stock have been made by Dixonites and local backers of the corporation say many more blocks of the stock will be disposed of in this city and community when it is offered for sale.

Three of the six directors of the corporation will be elected from among Dixon stockholders, the articles of the corporation provide.

Des Moines Veterans State Demonstration

Des Moines, Apr. 9.—(UP)—Demanding immediate payment of the adjusted compensation certificates, approximately 4,000 World War veterans paraded through the downtown streets here last night.

Lines of shouting demonstrators extended for three blocks and tied up traffic in the business district.

SALT PRESERVED HAY

Baker, Ore.—(UP)—The unusual crows of William Chambers, Rock Creek Rancher, prefer six-year-old hay to that stored last year. It was put away with salt and retains that youthful alfalfa coloring.

WEATHER

LOTS OF PEOPLE WAKE UP IN THE MORNING WITH A BIG HEAD, RIGHT OFF THE BEAT!

Indianapolis, April 9.—(UP)—George Gardner, 27, dirt track automobile racer hit by police record, was killed instantly by a fusillade of bullets fired into his auto near here today.

Three of the shots struck Gardner. Two others crashed through the windshield and three more struck other parts of the machine.

Four persons were arrested as police investigated the slaying. They were Mrs. Ruby Gardner, 23, the victim's wife; Richard Rogers, 28, Harry McQuinn, 26, and Mrs. Effie Wright, 36.

DEKALB COUNTY FARM BUREAU'S POSITION TOLD

President Denied A Published Endorsement Of Alvin Warren

Concerning an advertisement which appeared in a recent issue of The Telegraph to the effect that the DeKalb Co. Farm Bureau had endorsed Alvin Warren for the legislature, L. D. Sears, President of the DeKalb Co. Bureau today sent the following statement to The Telegraph:

"I wish to contradict the statement appearing in your paper stating that the DeKalb Co. Farm Bureau is unanimously endorsing the candidacy of Alvin Warren for state Representative. Our organization is not unanimously endorsing Alvin Warren but has gone on record as favoring the representatives who voted for the state income tax bill in the last session of the legislature."

In the April bulletin of the DeKalb Farmer, President Sears had the following advice to members of the DeKalb Co. Bureau:

"The Illinois Agricultural Association recently won a great victory when the state income tax bill, which the organization sponsored, was passed in the 57th General Assembly. I am glad to say that our Senator H. G. Wright of DeKalb, and all of the representatives from our district supported the bill and are seeking re-election. These representatives were: Dennis J. Collins, Henry C. Allen and John P. Devine, who merit votes for the vigorous support which they gave the bill. Agriculture can pay these men back in only one way, and that is to go to the polls, and see that these men are re-elected to the legislature this coming election, and if we can return these men to the General Assembly, we will be assured of support for any measure that is for the good of agricultural interests in the next session. Other men seeking the office are Alvin Warren of Leland, who has served one term with a good farm record, and George Dixon of Dixon, who in the 56th General Assembly showed himself to be very unfriendly to agriculture by opposing important agricultural legislation, including the income tax."

MELLON VISITS CASTLE: MEETS KING GEORGE V

Windsor, England, Apr. 9.—(UP)—Andrew W. Mellon presented his credentials to King George V today as United States Ambassador to the Court of St. James.

The ceremony took place at his home in Windsor Castle. Mellon arrived by motor from London with Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon. He was met by Major Harding, the King's private secretary, and conducted into the King's presence immediately.

A dull grey day and lowering skies matched the grim grayness of the castle contrasting with the limousine bearing the yellow, blue and red royal standard in which the Ambassador and the Foreign Secretary drove up to the castle.

Mellon and Sir John were in formal morning dress. Mellon relaxed in the automobile. Sir John sat easily forward holding his silk hat in his hand.

The chauffeur mistook the entrance to the castle and drove toward the Norman gate. He was redirected by a policeman. This caused a short detour past the servants' quarters of the castle and past Queen Mary's own rock garden.

A sentry was taken unawares as the automobile approached from an unexpected direction. He hesitated, came to attention and prepared to salute but the limousine had passed him.

Solicitude May Cost Oliver Much. Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—The solicitude which Gene Oliver, a former member of the County Board of Assessors and convicted of income tax violation, showed for the U. S. Marshall's office may cost him $17,500.

Oliver, who must enter Leavenworth prison today to start an 18-months sentence, telegraphed the Marshall not to bother to send a guard for him. He said he was at Hannibal, Mo., and would join a party of federal prisoners today at Kansas City.

SMALL CHARGES OPPONENT WITH LIBEL IN SUIT

Starts Court Action Against Custer For $250,000

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Developments came thick and fast in the primary campaign today. Although the contest will not be decided until Tuesday, candidates were putting in their hardest licks preparing to coast to the victory claimed by all.

The Republican gubernatorial campaign was particularly a live one in its closing stages. One N. Custer made public a letter from Governor Emmerson agreeing to broaden the powers of the impending special session to include legislation to protect bank depositors and small investors. Former Governor Small filed a $250,000 libel suit in Superior Court against Custer.

Small's attorneys said the suit was based on the alleged circulation of a newspaper article stating Small was backed by the Ku Klux Klan.

Warns Voters. In connection with the suit, Small issued a statement denying the newspaper story which said he had been backed by the Klan. It was the alleged distribution of this article which Small's counsel said was the basis of the suit.

"I never had any dealings with the Klan," Small said. "I again assure the people of Illinois that neither I nor any member of my family have any secret dealings with any politicians, newspapers, or with any secret societies of any kind or nature."

The former Governor said he wanted to warn his friends against "that eleventh hour propaganda—the dastardly lies and insinuations intimating dealings with any secret organization prejudicial to any race, creed or nationality."

USE OF TAXES ON GASOLINE IS OF CONCERN

Citizens Should Insist It Be Confined To Roads

"Every community in which a cement mill is located certainly has a vital interest in preventing the use of gasoline tax funds for purposes other than the building of highways," said J. B. John, president of the Medusa Portland Cement Company, today in considering future employment possibilities of this company's plants.

"There is a movement afoot in many states," said Mr. John, "to divert the proceeds of this road tax to a variety of purposes. No matter how commendable the latter, such a proceeding would break faith with the motorists, continue to impose the tax upon them without providing the roads, and would throw out of employment hundreds of thousands of workmen who are dependent upon road building."

"Recently it has been found by a number of different sources, among them the U. S. Office of Public Roads and the Associated General Contractors, that eighty-eight per cent of the money paid to ninety-one per cent of the dollar spent for concrete roads goes for wages and salaries. This put road building at the top of the list for the proportion of cost paid out for labor. I am told that charity, well administered, can hardly pay for relief more than 85 cents of each dollar collected."

"Cut out roads and you cut out labor," Mr. John continued. "This is brought home to communities like those in which our employees live when it is realized that mill labor received $117.00 of every $1,000.00 spent for roads and that frequently as much as $40.00 more of the same $1,000.00 is paid to labor in our community. The contractor pays up another item of $141.00 for labor on the job."

"Concrete roads can be built now for less money than at any time since the war. This is the opportunity of a generation to provide needed highways at a reduction possibly as great as fifteen or twenty per cent and at the same time provide the work so badly needed by willing workers in our mill communities," concluded Mr. John.

Chicago Physician Feared Kidnaped

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Disappearance of Dr. Alfred A. Budde, physician, was reported to police by his wife today after she had waited several hours for his return from a summons to an automobile accident. She said she feared he had been kidnaped.

LINDBERGH AND ASSOCIATES IN SEARCH OF LEAD

High Hopes Held This Week Have Been Dispelled In Failure

Hopewell, N. J., April 9.—(UP)—Negotiations for return of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby have failed for the time being.

Clues which caused hope to burn high at the Lindbergh home this week have led to naught, and now Colonel Lindbergh and his associates are seeking new trails that might lead to the child's return.

The Lindbergh family and their associates were definitely working on what was considered a hot trail earlier in the week. In connection with this investigation, Col. Lindbergh flew to New England coast; and Norfolk men, who believed they had a genuine contact, operated actively to achieve return of the child. From John H. Curtis of Norfolk came word that a contact had been established which gave assurance the child still lived. It was not said that this contact was a contact with the kidnapers themselves.

Have Two Theories. As a result three prevailed today two theories on cause of failure.

1. That the kidnapers had determined to hold out for a ransom higher than the $50,000 originally demanded.

2. That the kidnapers, getting close to the culmination of their plans, had been frightened off by some untoward incident and were now engaged in making a close check on their situation so as to be certain that they would not be apprehended or arrested upon actual completion of the negotiations.

Col. Lindbergh hitherto has pledged publicly that he would not seek to harm the kidnapers if only they would return the baby.

This pledge, given in all solemnity publicly, still stands, according to Lindbergh's associates.

Many Offer Help. It has been announced in the past that dozens of offers to "negotiate" had come to the Lindberghs. Some of these offers are known to have been from cranks; others from "chiselers" who saw an opportunity to gather easy money by capitalizing on the anxiety of the Lindberghs. Every care has been exercised to eliminate both classes of would-be "helpers."

In this connection, it was recalled that there have been a series of "Jafise" notes which have been assumed to be the messages of a real negotiator to a supposed kidnaper. These notes at first had this tenor:

"Money ready. Agree your terms."

But the past few days, these Jafise notes have said:

"What is wrong? Have you crossed me. Better directions please."

To many, this spelled failure of negotiations—a possible "double crossing" by the man whom "Jafise" had counted upon to deliver the baby.

The United Press cannot state that this is actually what happened, but it is in a position to say that negotiations have failed for the time being.

In the first days after the child was kidnaped, March 1, from his home on Sourland Mountain, the United Press revealed that $50,000 in small denominations had been impounded at Newark ready to pay the kidnapers.

The caravan will be accompanied by a drum and bugle corps and military band. Plans are being made to furnish meals for 150 people in the caravan at Dixon.

TRUCK CAUGHT FIRE.

One of the fleet of trucks operated by the Rock River Transit Company, which was being circulated by fire last night while driving west on the Lincoln Highway between Nachusa and Dixon. About one mile west of the Nachusa corners the driver discovered that the truck was burning. He succeeded in driving onto the shoulder where he unloaded the greater part of his cargo which was burning briskly and drove to the Roy Eastman lunch stand at the Crawford Maples corner where hand chemicals and water extinguished the fire on the truck. A cigarette which had been tossed from a car passing the truck on the highway alighting on the canvas covering is believed to have started the fire. The greater part of the cargo was destroyed by the flames and the truck was considerably damaged.

Salt Fed Baby By Children Is Fatal

New York, April 9.—(UP)—Baby Samuel Charlap, nine-month-old infant, who was fed a quantity of bath salts by neighborhood children so he would make faces, died in a hospital of lobar pneumonia late Friday.

The pneumonia was brought on by the irritating effect of the salts in the child's lungs. Samuel's throat and mouth also were intensely inflamed.

The baby was lying outside his home in his pram, when playing children decided to see what kind of faces he would make if he ate the bath salts. So they put a pound of the salts in the baby carriage.

Samuel's mother looked out of the window a few minutes later, saw her child eating something and went outside to investigate. The baby was hurried into a hospital but expert medical attention could not save his life.

SENATE'S ACTION TO HOLD INQUIRY RESULT OF TIPS

Bears Had Planned The Blackest Saturday In History

WASHINGTON, April 9.—(UP)—Senator Walcott, Rep., Conn., said he had discussed the stock market investigation with President Hoover, and that the President was "back of it to the limit."

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, Apr. 9.—(UP)—Wall Street was accused in the House today of manipulating prices to influence pending legislation in Congress.

The accusation was made by Representative LaGuardia, Rep., N. Y., in a brief speech inferring the recent decline in prices was designed to influence the Senate against the stock transfer tax.

Monday

BY LYLE C. WILSON. United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1932, by United Press) Washington, April 9.—(UP)—Reports that Stock Exchange shorts were organized for a $1,000,000 market raid which would have made today the "Black Saturday of all trading history" were partly responsible for Senate Banking and Currency committee decision to begin the Stock Exchange investigation Monday, the United Press was informed today.

Senators with banking connections laid reports of the contemplated bear raid before the committee in an emergency meeting in the Republican cloak room just off the Senate floor yesterday. There were several telephone calls to Richard Whitney, President of the New York Stock Exchange, culminating in the committee's decision to subpoena him as the first witness.

The United Press was informed today that several committee members yesterday got the impression Whitney had refused to testify before the committee. Further telephone conversations last night clarified Whitney's attitude. It is understood now that in long distance conversations with Senator Walcott, Rep., Conn., Whitney was asked to submit to the committee details of short transactions of selected traders.

Decide On Subpoena. It was said today by a member of the committee that Whitney had taken the position that it would not be proper for him to divulge such selected information. The suggestion was made that Whitney could testify with propriety, however, if he were subpoenaed in general terms to produce details of all short trading. The committee decided on such a course, apparently with Whitney's knowledge and so far as could be learned, his consent.

"This was to have been the day to take enormous profits on the short side," a member of the Banking and Currency committee told the United Press today. "The reports as presented to the committee were convincing. It was to have been the Black Saturday of all trading history."

"The committee had before it reports that in recent days there had been clipped from stock and bond values approximately $7,000,000,000."

"Part of our purpose in taking emergency action was to see if we could prevent another billion or so of dollars from being milked out of the market. We figured that if short traders knew that operations were to be strictly examined it would discourage them from bear operations."

To Avert Onslaught. The committee's purpose was said to have been to avert the onslaught of value-smashing short sales and if that were impossible to obtain information which would reveal the source of bear influences.

The source of warnings that emergency action was necessary was three Senators—Keen, Rep., N. J., Walcott, Rep., Conn., and (Continued on Page 2)

Woman Is Charged With Embezzlement

Chicago, April 9.—(UP)—Officers today hunted Josie W. Gregg, 60, former cashier of the Home Insurance Co. office here on charges of embezzling $30,000 to bet on horse races and play the stock market.

The charges were contained in a warrant sworn out by E. R. Hurd, manager of the insurance office. He said Miss Gregg had been an employee of the firm for nearly thirty years before her recent discharge.

A sister of Miss Gregg characterized the charges a "frameup."

SENATE'S ACTION TO HOLD INQUIRY RESULT OF TIPS

Goldborough, Repn., Md. Kean has wide banking connections in New York and Goldborough is a Baltimore, Md., banker. Walcott was in the securities business at one time before turning to politics in Connecticut.

The United Press informant took the position that while foreign shore operations and potential raids on the American gold standard were a factor in the committee's action, the real and immediate menace to market values was in the United States.

It was learned that the motion to subpoena Whitney was offered in the emergency committee meeting by Senator Steiwer, Repn., Ore. As drafted and adopted by the committee the motion directed Whitney to appear Monday with records not only of the status of short operations yesterday but of today. As the motion was made public last night by Senator Walcott, there was no mention of today's trading.

On good authority, the United Press learned that after Whitney's appearance there may be an interlude of some days or weeks before the investigation extends to other witnesses. This program is not decided upon but is believed to be likely. The inquiry, meantime, would remain a club in the administration's hands to intimidate short sellers.

SELF-CLAIMED PRINCE BURIED IN CALIFORNIA

Bishop Claimed He Was Son Of King Edward VII

Los Angeles, April 9.—(UP)—Simple funeral services were held Friday for a man who might have been King upon the British throne.

Devoid in death as in life of the honors to which he laid claim, John Guelph, 71, Bishop of the Wesleyan Church, was to receive the last rites of that faith.

His death Wednesday night of a heart attack left unsolved a mystery of English court life during the career of Edward VII, whose legitimate and private recognized son he claimed to be.

Guelph called himself Prince John Guelph de Windsor, declaring himself to be the first born son of Edward VII and the Princess of Waterbury of the line of Henry IV, born as the issue of a secret marriage which he claimed was ended by the wrath of Queen Victoria, but never annulled.

As the result of this marriage, Guelph claimed he was the first son of Edward, born at Windsor castle 71 years ago. Queen Victoria objected to the marriage, he claimed, and although the union was not annulled, later forced Edward to marry Princess Alexandra of Denmark to carry out an asserted agreement with Bismarck that a queen of German blood would sit upon the throne. Princess Alexandra was of German descent.

Guelph declared his mother voluntarily exiled herself from England and devoted her life to missionary work in Asia.

His claims were not recognized by George V, the present ruler, but his representatives stirred the British Empire, a short time before the outbreak of war in 1914.

Guelph had lived here many years. He came to San Francisco in 1910 and married Jennie Ward Hays, daughter of a prominent San Francisco physician, who with a son, Lionel Victor Guelph survives. The son is a Los Angeles broker.

ONE WITH A SONG
E SINGS! And his song is heard.
Pure as a joyous prayer,
Because he sings of the simple things—
The fields and the open air
The orchard-bough and the mocking bird,
And the blossoms everywhere.

He sings of a wealth we hold
In common ownership—
The wildest nook and the laugh of the brook
The love of the lily's heart of gold
And the kiss of the rose's lip—

Ours every rapturous tone
Of every song of glee
Because his voice makes native
choice
Of nature's harmony—
So that his singing seems our own
And our his ecstasy.

Steadfastly, bravely glad
He lifts his line to heights divine,
And sings, ever says,
This is a better world than bad—
God's love is limitless.

—James Whitcomb Riley, in "Home Folks."

Mr. and Mrs. Simms Arrive in Chicago

Former Congressman Albert G. Simms of New Mexico and his bride the former Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, arrived in Chicago yesterday on the Rocky Mountain Limited of the Rock Island railway from Colorado Springs, Colo., where they were married on March 9, at her home there.

"We have nothing to say," Mrs. Simms declared as she stepped off the train in the La Salle street station, wearing a tweed sports coat trimmed with fur and a small plain brown felt hat. She refused to pose for photographs, and walked rapidly down the platform.

Mr. Simms, who had difficulty in keeping pace with his wife, smiled amiably when he was asked where they were going. "I am going to follow her, wherever she is going," he said laughingly. "I think we'll stay at her place for a while and then on east."

He alluded to Mrs. Simms' Rock River farm at Byron.

In reply to a question as to whether he would take an active part in politics this year, Mr. Simms said, "Oh, we are both in politics for life."

WOMEN'S HOME AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY TO MEET—

The Women's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of Grace Evangelical church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the church. Mrs. Charles Garrison, and Mrs. Ed. Graves will be the hostesses. A good attendance is desired.

CORINTHIAN CLASS PICNIC SUPPER MONDAY EVENING—

The Corinthian S. S. Class of the Methodist church will enjoy a picnic supper Monday evening at 6:15 o'clock at the church. The regular picnic rules will be observed.

Pageant Last Evening Was Success

There was a large attendance at the Young People's Conference last evening. The Blues are still in the lead with a score of 169,955 and the Reds have a score of 117,990 points. Unfortunately one of the Blue members died, that is, from the membership roll thus deducting 5,000 points. There will be a memorial service soon at which time all the dead members will be buried.

The pageant, "Two Travelers on The Highway," was given with the following cast:
Louella Bowser
Frances Rossiter
Christiane
Eunice McConaughay
Death
Roy Flamingan
The Girl
Ethel Mae Rinehart
The Boy
Lyle Myers
The play was an allegory to teach to what Christianity leads. The boy and girl entering Life's Gateway are sought after by both Sin and Christianity. Sin offered the pleasures of this world whereas Christianity offered that which fears not Death nor the future. The boy and girl find true joy by allowing Christianity to lead them. Miss Mayme Schiefelbein sang very sweetly the opening number of the pageant, "Open My Eyes." At the close of the pageant Mrs. Grady Cantrell and Miss Schiefelbein favored with a duet.

Sunday there will be a Vesper service at 6:00 o'clock. Rev. Whitmore will be one of the speakers for this service, while Rev. Gordon will be the other instead of Rev. Barnett as formerly announced. These meetings are held at the Christian church Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings at 6:45, Sunday at 6:00. They are closed in plenty of time for all to reach the Tabernacle for the evening service. All young people are invited to attend.

Install Chapter Phi Beta Kapa

Jacksonville, Ill., April 9—A chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, the oldest national honorary scholastic society, was installed at Illinois College, Jacksonville, Illinois, on April 6. Owing to the death of President Rammelekamp on the day previous to the installation, the proposed banquet and open evening meeting were cancelled. The installing officer was Professor Clark S. Northrup of Cornell University, President of the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. Eleven members of the graduating class and the two highest juniors were elected to membership. Among those who were elected as honorary and alumni members were Francis G. Blair, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. Frank P. Norbury, neuro-psychiatrist of Springfield; Mr. Frederick G. Tauber, leading lawyer of New York City; Dr. Egerton Crispin, prominent physician of Los Angeles; President Wiley Lin Hurlie of the College of the Ozarks and Professor John G. Ames, chairman of the faculty and on various occasions Acting-President of the College. Illinois College is the second small college in the state to be honored with a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

News Notes Of The Girl Scouts

Monday—Brownie Pack of the north side held its weekly meeting. Miss Dorothy Schmidt had charge of the group. The hour was spent out of doors in various recreational games.

Troop V hiked to the old Academy grounds during their meeting. They built a campfire over which they roasted their wienies and marshmallows. The afternoon sped quickly, as the time was spent in exciting games. All returned homeward with regret that such a pleasant excursion was being brought to a close. The troop will meet with Miss Florence Stiles next Monday.

The High School Troop met at the home of Miss Dorothy Hoyle. The meeting was well attended. Miss Alice Crandall, the lieutenant, gave the troop information about summer camping. The Log of Hickory Hills camp was displayed. This attractive record of the past year's activities at Hickory Hills was greatly enjoyed. It is hoped that many will be able to take advantage of the opportunity to spend a week at the beautiful Wisconsin camp.

The troop devoted this meeting to the celebration of the twentieth birthday of Girl Scouting in the United States. Memories of Juliette Low pervaded the discussion of the rise of Scouting. A cake with twenty candles was brought in. Later this was cut and served with hot chocolate. The meeting was followed by bridge.

The next meeting will be at Miss Helen Parker's cottage at Assembly Park. Supper will be cooked out of doors. Meeting at 5 o'clock sharp. Thursday—Brownie Pack of the south side held a spring meeting in which the Brown Owl explained the miracle of the awakened earth. As usual all Brownies had many contributions to add to the discussion. During the latter part of the meeting work was resumed on the Brownie Scrapbooks.

Troop I spent first portion of their meeting in practicing Scout arts. The local director spoke to the troop on patrols and their other requirements. The meeting was discussed and the Log of Hickory Hills displayed. The troop also voted on the part they wanted for the Scout Pageant to be given at the Court of Awards in June. A game brought the hour to a close. All are proud of the 100 per cent attendance record for the meeting.

Troop IV was addressed by the local director at the opening of their meeting. The main topics of discussion were plans for camping and parts for the coming pageant. All members were urged to complete the Scout requirements upon which they were studying. The troop then divided into two groups. One going to the gymnasium to play basketball, while the others remained in the meeting place to pass requirements.

Troop IV which usually meets on Tuesday postponed their meeting until Thursday. The troop met at the home of its captain, Mrs. Gavril Dick where materials for signal flags were given out. Mrs. Harold Coss instructed the girls in the construction of the flags. Hems were put in while the girls partook of the delicious refreshments which their leaders served them. Jeanne Hart presented to the troop a gift from her aunt, Miss Bessie Hart of Crown Point, Indiana. The gift was a beautiful silk flag with embroidered stars. The troop is very proud of its fine possession and appreciates the kindness of Miss Hart.

Community Committee News
The committee met with Mrs. T. J. Miller, Jr. on Monday morning. Plans for the coming year were discussed. It was decided to entertain the leaders at a supper on April 14. The speaker of the evening will be Mrs. Potter of Morrison, who is secretary of the Regional Committee.

Foods That Are Good Spring Tonics

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

At the end of winter nearly everyone experiences a loss of appetite. During the cold months, the body has craved foods that would supply heat; and consequently a diet rich in fats and carbohydrates has been maintained. Even if fruits and vegetables have been included in the family diet, the tendency is to over-eat of the richer foods that eventually clog the system. This condition causes that tired feeling so often called "spring fever."

A study of many diets shows them to be lacking in iron, carefully selected though they may be. Too little iron in blood and tissues causes them to misbehave. The external indications of this internal "misbehavior" are apparent in poor color, listlessness and lack of vigor—spring fever. Physiologists tell us that iron in the blood is the carrier of oxygen to the tissues where food materials are burned to release energy.

MARIAN MARTIN PATTERN

STYLED FOR SIZES
36 TO 46
Pattern 9290

ILLUSTRATED STEP-BUY-STEP MAKING INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN WITH THIS MODEL.

Every line and detail of this frock has been carefully planned to slenderize the figure of the woman who is no longer slim. The draped bodice is unbroken in line from the dainty lace vestee to the pointed seaming of the skirt flare, and the narrow front panel detracts from the widths of the hips. This model makes up beautifully in flat crepe, sheer crepe or cotton.

Pattern 9290 may be ordered only in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 39-inch fabric, 1/4 yard of 9 1/2-inch lace.

To get a pattern of this model, send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred). Please write very plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern ordered.

SEND FOR YOUR COPY OF MARIAN MARTIN'S PATTERN CATALOG. This features 32 pages of the most delightful current models, carefully selected for the woman who sews at home. A wide range of afternoon, evening and sports dresses, special stout models, house dresses, lingerie, pajamas and kiddies' clothes is offered. All of the styles are not only smart, but practical and can be made very inexpensively. PRICE OF CATALOG, FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER FOR TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

planned, there will not be sufficient iron to insure vigor and endurance. Although meat is one of the richest sources of iron, it is not one of the best foods for the body to assimilate and dispose of. Therefore a high meat diet is not wise.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton
©1931 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

Suggestion is the most potent influence in human life and this is particularly true of children. More can be done by kindly suggestion in a minute especially with a little child, than can be accomplished in a day of scolding. I wonder how many mothers realize this. What a young child actually needs is not correcting but skillful guidance in the right direction.

But the wrong kind of suggestion does much harm. For instance if Billy's mother tells him every few seconds that he is naughty, he will take her literally, as all little people do, and his mind fixes itself on one fact. He is a bad boy. He just knows he is bad, that is all, in some sort of a general way; he knows he's a bothersome, undesirable person who is a great trouble to his mama.

If he were older, and of course he will get older, he would just say, "What's the use? They say I'm mad I'm going to be bad. I may as well have the game as the name." At least he would argue some way like this to himself.

Unhappiness Is Result
But now, at three or four, he merely becomes unhappy. And when a little child becomes unhappy and uncertain and gives under a cloud in his own mind, something very deep and blighting happens. He loses interest in trying. Invariably loss of self esteem precedes loss of effort whether a person be four or forty.

It is at four, however, that the great fabric of pride begins to weave itself into the emotional make up of life; even earlier than that, to be precise, for it is some time after the third birthday that he begins to be conscious of this pride. It is during this time that his social reactions or his "conscious" contacts get their start.

He is of course very sensitive and any suggestion now, whether good or bad, will have a tremendous effect upon his later conduct. On the other hand, if Billy's mother praises him every time she gets a chance, he is going to be so much pleased and encouraged that he will take a tremendous interest.

He is truly one of the great voices of the present day. It is rich and vibrant and tremendously powerful, yet so fine an artist is he that one scarcely realizes the depth of potential power at his command. His diction is clean and precise.

in earning more praise. When a child believes in himself half the battle is won.

He's Not a Grown-up!
He can't be perfect, of course, according to our silly older mind standards. We shall have to get over setting up this year old ideas for four year old minds to try to conceive. Billy's mother will have to realize this and overlook many things she calls naughty, if she would succeed.

It does not make a little boy or girl conceited to praise them. At any rate, this so-called conceit is a good thing because it is natural. Through it we can reach them. So praise them when they are generous, when they try to help, when they make awkward little forts or build their baby dolls, when they try to do things for themselves or to drink their milk or go to bed. By suggestion build up the idea that they are first class people. And if they are disobedient or naughty try to turn their interest quickly to something else. To say, "You are a bad boy," or "You are a bad girl," has no place in any child's life.

Special Meeting Aux. V. F. W. Wednesday

The Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars held a special meeting Wednesday evening in G. A. R. hall, with Dr. Lola Eastman of Chicago, the department president, Margaret Williams past department senior vice president, and a member of the Council of Administration of Rockford; and Anna Slex, president of the Sterling Auxiliary, and fourteen members of the Sterling Auxiliary, present. The visit of the Sterling president and members of that lodge was a happy surprise to the Dixonites.

The Colors were presented and America was sung. The Department President then initiated a new member, after which she answered a few questions for the Auxiliary and also gave an interesting talk on Patriotism and on the home at Eaton Rapids, Mich. Margaret Williams and Anna Slex gave interesting talks and hoped they would see all present in Sterling at the 13th annual encampment to be held some time in June.

The meeting closed to reopen last evening, April 8th, to which all members were urged to attend. Refreshments were then served by the committee, Mrs. Loma Hamill, Irene Hamill, Mrs. Mina Frederic and Mrs. Dorothy Godt, after which all departed for home having had an enjoyable time.

E. R. B. Class in Meeting Thursday

The E. R. B. Class of St. Paul's Lutheran Sunday school held their regular meeting Thursday evening in the church parlors. The president, Mrs. Brooks presided and opened the meeting with song. The Scripture lesson was given and Miss Olive Raffenberger read the 138th Psalm of David. After all prayed the Lord's Prayer the minutes were read. Roll call found a large number present. During the business session several cards of thanks were read. Another song followed and the meeting closed with all singing the Doxology. A short program followed in which Mrs. Roy Raffenberger gave two delightful readings. Two vocal numbers were beautifully sung by Mrs. Emma Lambert. A game was played which caused much merriment. Delicious refreshments served by the social committee, completed a happy evening.

ATTENDED ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY IN STERLING

Mrs. David Talty, Miss Peggy Lahey and Mrs. J. A. Snyder were guests in Sterling Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps, at which time announcement was made of the engagement of their daughter Miss Doris Phelps to Ralph Maynard, also of Sterling. It was a most delightful party, the tastefully appointed dinner being followed by cards. Pastel colors were emphasized in the decorations, and flowers of the early spring season were employed. Both Miss Phelps and Mr. Maynard are estimable young people, popular in a large circle of friends.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

by ALICIA HART

THIRD TIME'S A CHARM!
Before the World War, a girl either was beautiful or she wasn't and that was that.

Post-war standards of beauty changed that. A new conception of what was considered appealing came into being. It was just as efficacious to be smart, though ugly, as to be beautiful. In fact, it became possible to make it smart to be ugly.

Right now a third change is taking place. Charm has entered the competition for masculine favor. And, curiously, charm wins hands down, over both beauty and smartness. A woman who can be universally charming has an appeal that nobody can resist. It is the open sesame to being the most popular woman in your home town on the tour, at camp or wherever you happen to be.

Charm, seemingly, has little to do with looks. It is an inner quality of appeal. Yet the sophisticated know that you can do a lot about charm, just as you can about beauty and smartness. But you do it in two ways, by your looks and by your manner.

The way you achieve charm through your looks is to do everything you can about your beauty and then forget it! This forgetting yourself, once you've finished grooming and dressing, does the trick. But of course you have to look mighty nice to be able to forget yourself!

The second part of charm actually consists in thinking about others more than yourself. Cultivate an interest in others, forget yourself. Put your mind on the person at hand, use your head to see what topics interest him. Too many women, especially business women, never actually get their minds off themselves. Such a state of mind can never be compatible with charm.

For the woman who has charm is the one who always seems utterly unself-conscious, totally interested in those about her, and sympathetic and understanding.

T. N. E. A. Club Met At Grand Detour

Miss Esther Foxley delightfully entertained the members of the T. N. E. A. Bridge club at her home at Grand Detour Tuesday evening.

The favor for high score was given to Miss Vivian Lowery. Miss Edna Mossholder received the consolation favor.

After bridge Miss Foxley and her mother served delicious refreshments. The minutes of two previous meetings were read with much enjoyment.

Daily Health Talk

VITAMIN D
Of the various vitamins now known to science vitamin D is probably the one most widely appreciated by the public.

It has been demonstrated beyond any doubt that the absence of this vitamin induces rickets, a constitutional disease affecting the body as a whole, though most prominently shown in curvature of the long bones a peculiar distortion of the skull and soft swelling of the joints.

Vitamin D is found in considerable quantities in oils and fats. It is abundant in cod liver oil and can be produced artificially. An adequate supply of vitamin D is essential to normal development of the growing child's skeleton. Apparently it otherwise favorably affects the child's health.

Children suffering from rickets are known to be more susceptible to infections. This has led Hess to state in his book on Rickets, Osteomalacia and Tetany that "Children never die of rickets, so that it does not enter into mortality statistics. The infants do not die of rickets, but of the infectious diseases which it has incited and intensified."

The question often is asked whether adults should take a source of vitamin D as a safeguard.

To this question Dr. McCollum replies that "the only logical answer is that there is little room for the vitamin, especially during the colder months, affords a safeguard to health."

Because of the misinterpretation of a recently reported scientific observation, the impression prevails in some parts that an overdose of vitamin D is poisonous. The amount of vitamin D required for well-being is astonishingly small, but the risk of consuming with our food too much of this vitamin is completely negligible.

There is not the slightest prospect that any of the foods or drugs now marketed for the prevention or treatment of rickets will give the consumer excessive and dangerous amounts of vitamin D.

Monday—How Much Cod Liver Oil

THAT people increase and multiply, it has been their habit since the dawn of time. But in the dawn of time, and indeed until only a few decades ago, benevolent nature removed the surplus in her own way, just as she seems to do in China, apart from War, a cold wave will clear off a million and a famine or flood, more millions.

We have nothing of that sort in America today. The weak, mentally and physically, survive. Typhoid, smallpox and many other diseases are deprived of their efficiency. The babies and aged do not die as they did a century ago. Old people, who nowadays are inclined to gad about, forget that in primitive society they would be put away at forty and possibly eaten at forty-five. Nowadays they only reach their prime at fifty.

It would seem to me most dismal to be placed on the shelf at forty, or in the pot at forty-five. We cannot believe that primitive conditions were all that they are boomed up to be, even in the days of old King Tharawaddy, who would skin you alive as soon as look at you.

Thinking it over, I believe I would rather live in these times of interesting population. It's more pleasant and healthful.

THE REPUBLICAN TICKET.

In an adjoining column will be found a list of the candidates whose names will appear on the ballot in the Republican primary election next Tuesday. Readers are asked to study this long list of candidates for various offices and to make up their minds how they will vote when they get in the voting booth. If you like you may clip out the list on this page and take it into the booth with you for reference when marking your ballot.

The Telegraph makes the following recommendations:
For President of the United States—Joseph Irwin France. This will have no bearing on the presidential nomination and may be disregarded.

For United States Senator—Otis F. Glenn.
For Governor—Len Small, the only candidate on the ticket who has proven his ability and whose record as Governor of Illinois is a splendid argument for his nomination. He will do more for his district, as well as the entire state, than any other candidate.

For Lieutenant Governor—Fred E. Sterling, whose record as a fair and impartial presiding officer of the state senate entitles him to re-election. Fred Sterling was born in Dixon and naturally has a very friendly feeling for this section of the state. Any vacancy in the Governor's chair automatically makes the Lieutenant Governor Governor.

For Secretary of State—William J. Stratton whose splendid administration of this office during his first term entitles him to re-election. Mr. Stratton has made an enviable record in the matter of turning over to the state interest money collected on automobile license funds.

For Auditor of Public Accounts—Harry G. Wright of DeKalb. His election would bring a state office to this district. Senator Wright is now ably representing this district in the state senate.

For State Treasurer—C. Wayland Brooks. Mr. Brooks has established a name for himself as a courageous and brilliant law enforcement officer in Chicago. He is a former resident of Dixon.

For Attorney General—John E. Northup.
For Clerk of the Supreme Court—Charles W. Vaile.
For Representative in Congress, State at Large (Vote for Two)—Richard Yates and Stephen A. Day.

For Clerk of the Appellate Court—Justus L. Johnson.
For Delegates to National Nominating Convention—Glen F. Coe of Dixon.

For Alternate—Dana P. Munn.
For Representative in Congress—William R. Johnson. Mr. Johnson has given fine service to the district since he has been in congress and his wide acquaintance through his thirty years of work in various capacities in Washington makes it possible for Congressman Johnson to secure prompt action on the needs of the people of this district.

For State Central Committeeman—Franklin J. Stransky, who was formerly a circuit judge in this district.

For Representative in General Assembly (Vote for one or two)—Henry C. Allen and Dennis J. Collins. These two candidates, both of whom have fine voting records in Springfield, are endorsed by the farming interests. This district is essentially a farming district and the betterment of farm conditions is vitally necessary to the prosperity of the cities and towns in the district as well as the farmers, so we believe that all voters should support the men who have fought so valiantly for the improvement of conditions in this district.

For Senatorial Committeemen—Martin J. Gannon.
For Clerk of Circuit Court—Edwin S. Rosecrans.
For State's Attorney—Mark C. Keller.
For Coroner—Frank M. Banker.
For County Surveyor—L. B. Neighbour.

A $2,000,000 PRISON.

The newspapers have had a good deal to say recently about the "luxurious" new $2,000,000 prison for women which was opened in New York City the other day. Since, in that adjective, there is an implication that the prisoners to be coddled, it is worth while to see just what sort of accommodations this new prison actually provides.

It has a nice chapel in which Catholic, Jewish and Protestant religious services can be held. It has a fully equipped hospital with a psychiatrist on the staff. It has a modern, electrically-equipped laundry. Its cells are provided with hot and cold running water and mirror the cots have mattresses, and there are shower baths which the inmates may use as often as they like.

This is luxurious by contrast with some prisons, of course. But, after all, it provides nothing more than simple decency in the way of living conditions. We ought to realize that this is just about the level which all prisons, for men and women alike, ought to reach.

Financial measures which the United States have taken were wisely conceived and may perhaps prove beneficial not only to that great country but to the entire world.—Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer.

To my mind, prohibition has brought a great moral crisis that can be safely passed only by repeal. The Republican party should face this issue honestly and I shall do my part to see that it does.—Senator Jesse H. Metcalf, Rhode Island.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE.)

"Oh, goodness! See what you have done," cried Scouty. "You have spoiled our fun. Why did you stick that pin into the big, fat bubble?"

"Just when he was in proper trim you let the air right out of him. Why do you have to do such mean things? Please tell us, if you can."

Poor Duncy! He just hung his head. But in a moment, Copy said, "Why I think Duncy did just right. The man said we'd be spanked."

"A spanking doesn't feel so very good and Duncy did just what I would. Instead of trying to call him down, I think he should be thanked."

"We still can have a lot of fun, despite the think that Duncy has done. Let's blow some more big bubbles. They are pretty as can be."

"I'll try to blow a little one that's long and skinny. It will be fun. We'll all take turns, but right now, lads, just keep your eyes on me."

Then Copy dipped the pipe in soap as Duncy shouted, "Well I hope you blow the biggest we have seen, because you were very kind."

"You took my part and saved me from appearing to be very dumb. Gee. Even if you take my turn at blowing, I won't mind."

The soap suds seemed to be real thick which made the big bubbles come out slick. Wee Copy blew some little ones and then a big one came.

"Oh, keep it up!" one Tiny cried. "That is the finest I have spied. If that one goes kerpop, like all of the rest, it will be a shame."

The bubble seemed to grow real fast. While wondering how long it would last, the Tinmites were surprised to see it leave the pipe and glide.

Right over wee Duncy's head it dropped. Of course he was very startled when it stopped. "Why, look!" exclaimed brave Scouty, "Little Duncy is inside."

(Duncy floats away in the next story.)

ASHTON NEWS

BY E. TILTON

ASHTON—Ashton Woman's Club Thursday held the exercises planting the memorial tree in observance of the Bicentennial celebration of Washington's birthday. The tree is a beautiful Norway spruce and was planted in the semi-circle of the front lawn near the memorial fountain. The service was short but impressive and much enjoyed by all who attended. The work was done under the direction of L. V. Slothower, instructor in vocational agriculture at the high school. Mr. Slothower gave a most interesting talk in honoring the occasion, prayer was made by Rev. P. O. Bailey, pastor of the Evangelical church and America was sung.

Ashton may well be proud of its Woman's club which organized with 36 members a short while ago. This is their first contribution to the welfare of the village and is a most worthy effort.

Clifford Schaefer is candidate for re-election on the school board on Saturday.

Ashton Bank was appointed as the depository of the school funds of the Pine Rock township school funds by the trustees, R. Y. Tilton, Earl Canfield and Bert Hogan.

Mr. and Mrs. John Craft of Chicago are making their home temporarily in Ashton. Mrs. Craft is remembered as Miss Orva Moore.

The village board voted to modernize the local fire fighting equipment at the town meeting on Monday. A speedier chassis will be installed in the truck, giving the town much better protection as minutes are most valuable in fire fighting. To assist the men in combating rural fires a pumping attachment will be added and the hose will become equipment of the truck.

Provision was made to call an election to cancel the band tax of the village, the required number of voters having requested this move.

Ashton Boy Scouts will hike to Hunt's Grove on Sunday afternoon, leaving from Bluebird Inn at 1:00. The boys will go prepared to meet requirements in fire building and the preparation of a simple dinner. Each lad will bring a quarter pound of beef steak and potatoes to roast and enjoy his own cooking.

Mrs. John Charters was a Dixon caller early in the week. Clarence Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gottfried Johnson, was a guest of his parents for a short visit the past week. Mr. Johnson lives at Seattle, Washington but in making trips to eastern points is a guest of his parents and sisters.

Clarence Paddock of Ashton and Mrs. Everett Cone of DeKalb. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Reitz were the parents of a small daughter this week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Hedrick were hosts to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Drummond at dinner Sunday. Sunday evening the Mission Band of the Evangelical church will give the following program beginning at 7:30.

Welcome Song..... Mission Band
Scripture and Prayer.....

Benediction.

Mrs. William Jenkins was a guest at the E. J. Randall home of Dixon Wednesday. Mrs. Glen Satterlee, daughter of the Randall, and well known to many Ashton folks is a guest of her parents this week.

Mrs. Isaac Trask will be hostess to the King's Herald of the Methodist church at her home Saturday at 9 o'clock.

Rev. Park O. Bailey and Rev. George C. Walters will attend the annual conference of Evangelical churches at Geneseo Tuesday of the coming week.

J. A. Torrens, principal of the Ashton schools will talk before the Pine Rock Woman's club at the home of Mrs. Willis Grant of Chana on Friday. The subject of his address will be Vocational Training.

Mrs. George Achenbrenner and Mrs. John Cordes will be hostess to the St. John Lutheran's Aid of Ashton on Tuesday, April 12.

Eber Higley, local shoe dealer, has moved his business to the building recently vacated by Charles Hunter.

Mrs. Sarah Loeve, president of the Ashton Woman's club was a guest of the Lee County president of Women's Clubs at a luncheon in Dixon on Saturday. Mrs. Deutsch is County President of Lee county clubs.

Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Moore were hosts to their daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Shoop of Chicago over the week end.

Prof. and Mrs. Lyle Stitt, Prof. Stitt former Agriculture instructor of Ashton, were guests at the John Wagner home. Prof. Stitt is now located at El Paso, Ill.

Mrs. Nancy Paddock was hostess to her grandson, Forrest Paddock and family of Chicago during the week.

The 150 acres of the Clifford Lucky farm recently purchased by John Jacobs, has been purchased by Robert Knapp. The acreage adjoins Mr. Knapp's farm.

Mrs. Clyde Wishard who was a patient at Dixon hospital has returned to her home north of Ashton.

In the interest of the convention of the 13 district of the American Legion to be held at Savanna in early summer. P. H. Franzen and Ray West of that city were callers in Ashton during the week.

Miss Madalyn Cleary won the first award in spelling in the contest held at Franklin Grove on Monday.

Local contestants to enter the musical and literary contests at DeKalb in May, are busily engaged in making their parts better under the capable direction of Miss Yenerich and Mr. O'May they are making every effort to perfect their technique and bring further honors to their home and town.

Their fellow students and townsmen are all very much interested in their success and many plan attending the contest at DeKalb which precedes the finals.

Men are said to be more often color-blind than women. The ratio, according to I. H. Goddard, of the Museum of Science and Industry, New York, is about four to one.

Lighthouse Church Burned

The following article will be read with regret and interest as well as far and wide by many people. The Historical Lighthouse church dear to the memory of many residents of this community was burned to the ground early Sunday afternoon, the fire being discovered about 1 o'clock.

The usual preaching service and Sunday school had been held and the people had dispersed to their various homes, but almost as soon as they arrived there, the word came over the telephone that the church was burning. The pastor, Rev. E. S. Nicholas, first discovered the fire from the parsonage home near by and telephoned the news which soon spread. People gathered but they could only stand aside and let the beautiful country church burn to the ground. The organ was the only item saved of the contents.

The structure burned Sunday was of brick edifice was built in 1876 on the site of the old frame church which was erected in 1843 and was one of the first places of worship in this area in those pioneer days. It has always been the center of community life as well as a place of worship. The name Lighthouse, was given to the little settlement, because in the early days before the establishment of settled roads over the surrounding prairie, an old-time country physician, Dr. John Roe, great-grandfather of Mesdames W. L. Moore and George Spangler of this place, kept in his window a steadily burning light to serve as a guide and beacon to those in need of him. His home was situated on a hill close to the site where the church was afterward built and afterward built and the light could be seen at night for many miles.

Plans to rebuild the church were launched at a meeting of the official board Monday evening. There is $5500 insurance and a drive for subscriptions is contemplated. In the meantime Sunday services will be held at the homes of the members. The Lighthouse church society is a strong and active organization and even though times are strenuous and money scarce, particularly among farmers, there is no doubt that within a comparatively short time we shall again see the "Lighthouse" church standing on the hill as yore, a beacon and a guide to all.

Young Folks Married

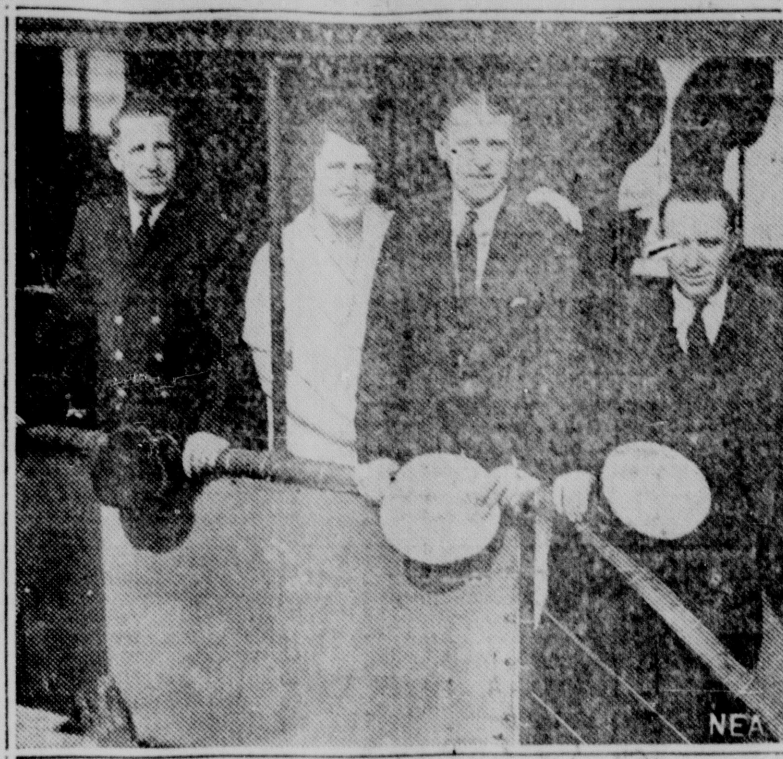

Bert O. Vegeler of this community and Miss Olive Hanes of Dixon were united in marriage last Thursday at the parsonage of Grace Evangelical church, 114 Sunset Ave., Rockford. The ceremony being performed by the pastor, Rev. C. P. Schriver. The bride was handsomely gowned in a dress of Cadet blue with accessories to match. The couple was unattended. The bride is known to many in Dixon where she grew to womanhood, graduating from the Coppins Business college and later studied in the Art Department of Mt. Morris College.

Mr. Vegeler has spent his entire life in the community where he has a host of friends who extend congratulations and wish him and his bride a life filled with happiness and prosperity.

Mr. and Mrs. Vegeler will be at home on the groom's farm south of this place after April 15th.

Woman Added to Yacht Marcon's Crew

The unexplained addition of a woman to the crew of the yacht Marcon contributed new mystery to the report that the boat is ready to sail from Norfolk, Va., to meet the kidnappers of the Lindbergh baby at sea. Here the members of the crew, left to right: Mate M. G. Mason; Mrs. Jack J., the new member, seen here in nurse's uniform; Jack Frost, steward; and George Williams, engineer. The yacht is owned by Col. Charles H. Consovo, Baltimore hotel owner.

were guests Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Lena Goetzberger.

Aged Father Dead

Rev. George A. Brown, father of Mrs. George Blocher of this place, passed away at the Church of God home in Oregon at 3 o'clock Saturday morning. He was past his 91st birthday which occurred February 9, and was in good health until one week ago. He was the last of the Civil War veterans in Oregon. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the Church of God in Oregon. Those from here who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. George Blocher, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Blocher and family and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Group and family.

Class Party

The Sunbeam class of the Presbyterian Sunday school with their teacher, Miss Blanche Colwell met at the home of Frances Ramsdell Saturday afternoon. In the absence of the secretary, Georgia Peterman, June Hatch acted in that capacity. The meeting was opened by the president, Marie Black, the minutes of last meeting were read and approved. The roll call was responded to with verses of scripture. Frances Ramsdell read the scripture lesson after which the Lord's prayer was repeated. It was decided to hold the next meeting with Muriel Kness the first Saturday in May.

The afternoon was spent in playing games. Cootie was played at which June Hatch won first prize and Dorothy Pyle second. At a guessing game Miss Blanche Colwell won first prize. Refreshments were served consisting of sandwiches, cocoa, salad, cake and jello.

Band Concerts Explained

In all probability there will be no concerts this summer on our streets. Upon investigation by several members of the village board it was ascertained that the whole band proposition in Franklin Grove was faulty. First, it was found that the petition circulated submitted the band tax to vote in 1927 was incorrect, the ballot used for voting was wrong and the result of the election, 75 to 66 was never recorded officially. Therefore the $600 each year appropriated for concerts for the year 1928-31 has been paid out of the village fund and not from a band tax, as no such tax was ever levied or collected in Franklin Grove. The financial condition of the village is in such a condition that no funds are now available for concerts and no money can be advanced for that purpose. The band tax law allowing an assessment of two mills on the dollar to be levied and collected for municipal band concerts, is a good, sane measure. It is really to be regretted that it was not carried out properly here as the majority of the voters were for the band.

Completely Surprised

Mrs. Fred Schrader was most completely surprised Sunday by members of her family who came to assist her celebrate an approaching birthday anniversary. The guests had with them well filled baskets and a sumptuous dinner was served. Those present made Mrs. Schrader the gift of an electric toaster with best wishes for many future happy years and birthday anniversaries. Those attending included Mr. and Mrs. William Meyers and family; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bollman of South Dixon; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Meyers; Mr. and Mrs. Amos Eberly of Nelson Township; Mr. and Mrs. John Herra of Franklin Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Kinney of Lee Center. Mrs. Schrader is one of our highly respected citizens and her many friends are joining with the family in wishing her many happy returns of the day with good health added to them.

Mrs. E. R. Buck and Mrs. Ruth Hussey gave a report of the Lee County Board meeting held in the Nachusa Tavern, Saturday. A delightful luncheon was served at 12:30 with the County Chairman, Mrs. Mary Deutsch, entertaining the club presidents and department chairmen. Following the luncheon was a business session of the board with reports from the clubs of the county and a discussion of club work in general.

Mrs. Buck, Mrs. Hanson, Mrs. Breunler and Mrs. Hussey were appointed as delegates and alternates to the 13th District convention of Federation Clubs to be held in Galena on May 5 and 6. Mrs. Sunday, Miss Clara Lahman and Mrs. Della Gilbert were appointed as nominating committee, to report at the meeting of April 18th.

The program was given by Miss Clara Lahman, chairman of the Civics department. Very interesting articles were read on "Taxes and Our Public Schools"; "The Unemployment Situation"; also a very enlightening article on "Japan and China." These were taken from The Illinois Voter, the organ of the Illinois League of Women Voters. Mrs. Sunday read also from the latest issue of the Voter the records and platforms of candidates for Congress and the state legislature. After discussion of these various subjects, the club adjourned to meet in two weeks for the April Garden meeting.

Mrs. Harry Hummer Dead

Mrs. Sarah Hummer, wife of the late Harry Hummer, died Tuesday in York, Pa., at the home of her nephew, where she had resided for several years. GANGSTER WINS

Springfield, Ill., April 8—(AP)—William (Three Fingers) Jack White won a point from Cook county prosecution officials today when the Supreme Court refused to grant the state a rehearing on White's appeal from a 14-year sentence for the murder of Edward Pfaffme, a Chicago policeman.

The Supreme Court at the last term reversed the conviction and sent the case back to Cook county for a retrial. This will be White's third trial for the murder—an earlier life sentence having also been reversed and remanded.

VOTE FOR

DENNIS J. COLLINS

Republican Candidate for Renomination for

STATE REPRESENTATIVE

35th District—DeKalb, Lee and Whiteside Counties

Help DeKalb, Lee and Whiteside counties and your State Government by again sending Dennis J. Collins to the state legislature. Actions speak plainer than words—this fact has been thoroughly demonstrated by Mr. Collins during the past two years, both in governmental circles and locally. That's why thousands of voters throughout the 35th District will do their part toward again sending Dennis J. Collins to the state legislature. You may rest assured that he will do everything within his power toward helping any movement that may mutually benefit every citizen and the district he represents.

A Vote For Collins Will Help You

HE VOTED FOR and helped to pass the bill lowering the state license on small farm trucks, etc. HE VOTED FOR and helped to pass the bill improving the Chattel Mortgage Law, enabling the farmer to get credit.

HE VOTED FOR and helped to pass the State Income Tax Law, which will make Chicago wealth and personal property tax dodgers pay their honest, fair and just taxes in the support of our state government. This is not an additional tax, but means LOWER TAXES for the farmer, personal property and home owner.

HE VOTED FOR and helped to pass the bill removing the necessity for licenses for clover hullers, threshing machines, ensilage cutters, corn shredders, hay presses, portable sawmills, and similar vehicles used for agricultural purposes.

HE VOTED FOR the bill paying mothers' pensions blind pensions and judges' salaries out of state taxes, thereby reducing county taxes on real estate and farm land, and lightening the burden for small home owners.

HE VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED increased appropriations and increased salaries of all state senators and representatives.

HE VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED the additional two-cent increase in gas tax.

HE VIGOROUSLY OPPOSED state tax on cigarettes and tobaccos.

HE VIGOROUSLY OPPOSES senatorial reapportionment, and giving Chicago and Cook County full representation in both houses, as this would work a material hardship on all counties except Cook.

Mr. Collins has been faithful to all farmers and all taxpayers—he voted for and helped to pass bills favoring his district. He has vigorously opposed all bills that would confer hardships on any of his people. He is for you 100 per cent—he has and will keep every promise.

He is Loyal to His District
.. He Will Be Loyal to You

Prairie Farmer's
Recommendation—

"An outstanding farm paper, non-partisan and non-political—a paper vitally interested for the good of the every voter."

Here's how Prairie Farmer, the great agricultural paper of the midwest, classifies this candidate for the House of Representatives in the General Assembly from the 35th District, comprising Lee, DeKalb and Whiteside counties:

House, R. — Dennis J. Collins, lawyer, DeKalb.—A fine young legislator who energetically fought for the income tax. Deserves every farm vote.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

RAMBLINGS OF THE STAY AT HOME

Editor Telegraph:—The use of the English language in imparting information or to obscure our intentions is so effective that one is astonished at its possibilities. The different applications or meanings, as the word or phrase is used is almost dumbfounding. The word "bunk" was commonly understood to mean a built-in sleeping place in freight car, lumber camp or whatever. Now it is the more important element of the politician's equipment. Note, economy and efficiency during a campaign when platforms and promises are rapidly made and so easily broken. Now if the "con" from economy and the "fish" from efficiency were removed, how much of the "bunk" of the campaigner would be relegated to oblivion.

Today the man who goes into a bank with a gun is amenable to imprisonment if he does not secure the services of the best legal talent. On the other hand if he uses a obtained for himself the reward of worthy endeavor and immunity from punishment at the same time. True, his gatherings may not be as large, but after the division has been made, the proceeds may be invested in any real estate, politics or poker and at the present time there is some risk involved in any of the mentioned businesses.

A program for the extension of our park system has been outlined and is in all probability to be realized in the near future. The west end must have its river bank beautification and the park for the tired worker and his family. There they go with their lunch, if the Welfare organization can continue to get the view of the beautiful river, the pure air and the much needed rest, especially the bread winner who has worn out his shoes and patience looking for a job.

This forward looking program must particularly appeal to the tax payer, to whom the promise of lowered taxes and efficiency had a beguiling and harmonizing sound. Instead of paying taxes let us send our way to the new park, bathe our bodies in the river and our souls in the purely delightful surroundings, forgetting our troubles, our debts, if they are troublous, and if the Welfare committee functions, our hunger.

Another rambling thought, let us forget it, that no bonds were called, is as usual, and this city has this much more reason to consider the wisdom of the Con and Fish elimination. Does it occur to the most of us that the sacrifice and the suffering that must be the portion of one who has so unselfishly filled the duties of one office, that it is asking almost too much to saddle on him increasing woes and responsibilities. Possibly salary and mileage can assuage the grief and in some measure recompense for the sacrifices made.

Especially must we realize that when duty calls we must be ready to fill the ranks and perform the which the one called is so eminently fitted; win, though he has to serve in many capacities at the same time. So few are thus generously endowed with these qualifications that it is the imperative duty to respond, however onerous the duty may be.

To arms men and let the chips or bricks fall where they may. Ever remember the reward heroism and patriotism with your gratitude, your devotion and your votes especially. "Remember the Maine", also, that you may become a banker and make a will devising the distribution of your savings, and the chances are few and advantage and opportunity do not knock too often at one door, and sometimes never. With deep gratitude that we are living and the determination to see that commendation and reward shall be given, we beg the pardon for having called to your attention to some of the peculiarities of our customs and language.

THE TAX AND SALARY REDUCTION SITUATION
Editor Telegraph: It cannot be denied that the tax situation in every department of the municipal subdivision of the State demands a calm and intelligent consideration, at this time. The tax situation, the same as any other beneficial legislative or governmental activities should begin at the bottom. It should start with the school districts, townships, cities, counties, legislative and senatorial districts, Congressional districts and every other municipal subdivision of the State and last reach the State Government itself.

The balancing of the budget in any municipal subdivision of the State may be attained in two ways. If the expenditure of the municipality is greater than the tax revenue, the tax budget can be balanced either by the imposition of more taxes on the one hand to make up the deficiency, or on the other hand, cut down the expenses of the Government. I believe, the proper way is to cut down the expenses. A large portion of these expenses is the salary of various elected and appointed officials and salaried employees of the municipality. It must be admitted that taxes are altogether too high, and that, without any justification, it must also be admitted that the compensation of common laborers, in fact all employees of whatever grade in any private enterprise in the State of Illinois, have been cut from 20 to 100 per cent. Hundreds of thousands of men in this State have been cut 100 per cent, which means that they have had no gainful employment for many months. I am fully convinced that fat salaries fixed at the high tide of prosperity in this country, should be reduced as much as consistently can be done as a matter of justice and of fair dealing between man and man. I also know that there are hundreds of families in the city of Dixon, owners of small properties who are required to practice the most rigid economy to save enough money from their narrow and insufficient income to pay the taxes imposed leaving out the question of a sufficiency to provide the actual need of the family. I also know there are many families who will be unable to pay their taxes this year and their homes will be sold on the auction block of the tax gatherers to satisfy delinquent taxes, more special assessments returned unpaid unpaid this year than in the history of Dixon.

I also know that a high salaried official class and public employee, whose salaries are obtained from the thin sweat stained purse of the taxpayers will not promote the general welfare of the nation, but will on the contrary produce dissatisfied and rebellious people.

We are met in this attempt to balance the budget and to relieve the distress of the tax payers, with the platitude "I believe in good wages". This is no answer to the situation. We are met with the condition and not a theory. The imperative duty of these possessing governmental powers is to relieve the distress, bring about equality between the salaried official class and fellows who earn the money to pay the taxes imposed by the official class. In my opinion, there is nothing so destructive of democracy as a high salaried and proud official class who assume an ugly and wicked attitude toward men who are attempting to solve the problems which confront this nation, and this government and which challenges its very existence. We should and must reduce salaries. We must provide employment of the unemployed by taking the salaries thus reduced and furnish labor for the man whose wife and children depend on his earnings. I fear that these gentlemen who say they are in favor of high salaries believe in this, high salaries for the few and no employment for the many. In other words we will pay the official class high salaries but there will be no employment for the many common workers. This is the attitude of the majority of the City council. They say cut off all local improvements. In other words let us maintain the high salaries and dispense with all employment of the common men. I say let us reduce the salaries of the government officials and take that money and prosecute public work. If we have anything left from the revenues of the coming year after the necessary payments and governmental expenses are met let us devote it to furnishing labor. Our Police and Firemen are paid $125 per month, backed up and fortified by pensions in case of injury or 20 years service, and with constant employment. Other towns around here are paying $100 to $115 per month to Police and Firemen. Our city clerk is paid $2100.00 per year. Our Deputy clerk is paid $750. Yet the city clerk of Sterling, Illinois is paid but $1500.00 cost of living down more than 20 per cent all helpful to them. Most of the stenographers and single girls in the city, the clerks in our stores, waitresses in restaurants are working for $10.00 per week or less on an average. I know competent stenographers who are competent office girls working for sums as low as $5.00 per week, $7.00 and $8.00 per week, and yet girls and women no more competent are drawing down from $750.00 to $1500. per year because they are working in public offices. The time of equalization as far as possible has arrived. The people are demanding justice. The people have a right to demand, and they are demanding, and they are organizing in this State, to obtain justice.

How about the business man, no pension, no stipulated guaranteed income, with falling markets dissipating his wealth. The purchasing power of the consumer nearly gone, all adding to his sorrows and destroying profits and his business life. There are too many Neros fiddling while Rome burns.

AN HONOR TO DU PAGE

DuPage county bids fair to take its place in the political firmament in the campaign now beginning, with an outstanding candidate in the person of Charles W. Hadley, a native son of DuPage who has given twenty-five crowded years in the service of his community, his county and his state. He is now seeking the position of attorney-general of Illinois, for which he asks the suffrage of his fellow workers in the Republican party.

It is hardly necessary to say much about "Charlie" Hadley to anyone here in DuPage county, for there isn't a better known man within its limits. Mr. Hadley has no need to fear the white light of publicity, for his record has been an open and a fearless one. It is that record which has made a place for him outside the county, where he has served Illinois as chairman of the State Commerce Commission for the last two and a half years. During that time he has established a record for speedy and capable work, as well as an economical administration of the exacting duties of the position. As a result of this, a large part of the money appropriated for the use of the Commission, was returned to the state treasury.

For seven years Mr. Hadley served as assistant Attorney-General, called to that position in 1922 when the famous debacle in law and order came to Rock Island county. Local authorities confessed themselves unable to cope with the situation. It was then that Charles Hadley took the situation in hand, and dominated it in spite of threats against his life, defamation of his character and the use of every other subterfuge known to the citizens of the underworld whom he was prosecuting. And he stayed with the job until it was finished, and law and order came back once more to Rock Island county, with the conviction and punishment of the guilty ones.

Mr. Hadley was for fourteen years State's Attorney of DuPage county, and it was during these years that he laid the foundations of his legal reputation and became known, not only as an able lawyer, but a gifted orator as well. Admitted to the bar in 1902, he has risen steadily and rapidly in his profession, until now he commands the whole-hearted respect of all his fellow workers in the legal fraternity, including the judges before whom he has appeared in many famous cases. He is a hard and conscientious worker, an able prosecutor, with a lucrative private practice which has taken him into courts in Chicago and all over the state.

Consistently a Republican, Mr. Hadley enjoys the confidence and esteem of men high in the councils of the party, who feel that his elevation to the Attorney-General's office will be a distinct asset to the party.

DuPage has reason to be proud of Charles Hadley, and is confident that he will make the best Attorney-General that can be elected in Illinois.

The next Attorney General of Illinois will be the State's legal adviser and counsel until 1937, during a period when important legislation will confront the next Governor and the General Assembly.

New Tax and Banking Laws probably will be included in the next legislative program. The situation demands a man of sound judgment, proved legal ability and unquestioned honesty in the Attorney General's office.

Charles W. Hadley is the man.

TODAY IN SPORTS

FAST WRESTLING
MARKED SHOW IN
DIXON LAST EVEMat Stars From Dixon
And Mendota Mixed
In Several Bouts

Last evening the sport fans of Dixon and vicinity were given an opportunity of witnessing a very attractive card of fast amateur wrestling between men from Mendota's gym of Mendota and Betow's gym of Dixon and the evening was full of pep from start to finish. About two hundred men, women and children enjoyed the exhibition.

The first match was between Roy Moyer, 135, and "Mike" Julian, 139. This was a ten minute or first fall match and was won by Julian in six minutes and sixteen seconds by use of the Half Nelson. This was a very lively bout and both men showed they were good prospects. Both were from Betow gym.

The second match was between "Sparky" Campbell, 136, Dixon, and "Rusty" Rogers, 132, Mendota, and was a 15 minute or first fall match. Both these men showed good work and were so evenly matched they went the limit to a draw.

The third match was between Joe Wood, 155, Dixon, and Joe Tentler, 150, Mendota, and was a twenty minute or first fall match. This bout went fourteen minutes and was won by Wood using body scissors and bar arm. Tentler started very aggressively but Wood soon convinced him that he had something to contend with.

The third and final bout was between John St. Clair, 168, of Dixon, and Art Wennmacher, 170, Mendota, and was scheduled to go thirty minutes or first fall. This was very hotly contested and both men plainly showed they knew their stuff. The bout went 18 minutes and 15 seconds. At times it looked as though either might win but was finally won by St. Clair with the body scissors hold forced Wennmacher to give up.

Just previous to the third match Mickey Barefield challenged the winner and after the decision Joe Wood accepted the challenge. This match will probably be pulled in the next exhibition. These are the two who gave good account of themselves at the recent exhibition at the Elks club and will probably be watched for by all our local sport fans.

Betow's gym is composed of a bunch of good, clean athletes who are working hard to make the gym a success and those who wish to see it a success should turn out and give them their moral and financial support. They have a good bunch of promising wrestlers and boxers and in the near future will make you entertainments well worth seeing. The writer has visited this gym on several occasions and finds it is attended by some of our best young men in town and is conducted in a clean and good sportsmanlike manner. It is well worth supporting.

Tom Burke presided as referee of the matches, Tim Sullivan as timekeeper and Ed Hoker as official announcer.

BY HENRY McLEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent
New York, April 9.—(UP)—It was a very elegant interview, this chat with Herr Max Schmeling as the S. S. New York barged slowly up the harbor from quarantine. Elegant, that is, until Donna Blanka arrived.

Maxie had overlooked nothing in preparing for our arrival. Deep-cushioned chairs were scattered all over his luxurious suite and the portholes were thrown wide affording a breath-taking view of the Jersey bays. As we talked stewards offered large breakers of foaming buttermilk and crisp, buttered graham crackers.

The champion already had tipped us off that he weighed 194, never felt better in his life, had no intention of retiring, expected to whip Sharkey in less than 15 rounds, and how he bagged a magnificent stag just before sailing. He was just preparing to disclose the round he hoped to put the old

Kansas City—Charlie Root has added a final argument in support of his right to pitch the National League opener for the Cubs against Cincinnati next Tuesday.

With his fast ball working in splendid style, Root polished off his delivery yesterday by holding the Kansas City Blues of the American Association scoreless and to three hits in five innings. The Cubs won the game, 4 to 3, with Burleigh Grimes finishing with a shaky performance.

Cincinnati—The Cincinnati Reds and Cleveland Indians will open their annual exhibition series here today subject to an improvement in the weather.

Detroit—Charlie Gehring's throwing arm, probably the most important single adjunct of the Detroit Tigers, is quite all right, thank you. At least he said it was after a busy afternoon at second base yesterday in the homecoming exhibition game against the New York Giants.

convinced on Mister Sharkey when—Donna Blanka arrived.

Donna Blanka did not arrive empty-handed. She came bearing gifts, so to speak, in the form of three sailors who had no better sense than to hang onto her leash. Donna Blanka, in case you wonder, is a police dog. Probably the meanest police dog in the world. And she's strictly a one-man dog. That is, she eats only one person at a time.

The moment your correspondent—the same correspondent who braved a lion's den a few days ago—the moment he saw Donna Blanka, he remembered having left his hat on the top, or sports deck, one second later, imagine his surprise finding it as his fellow craftsmen, as well as Champion Schmeling had lost their hats, too. And under the same lifeboat!

"Why," asked your correspondent as soon as he had caught his breath, "why did you bring that Hound of the Baskervilles to this country?"

"I bring her," replied Herr Schmeling, "for a friend. For Mister W. O. McGeehan. I think Donna Blanka make fine pet. Are you sure that the door leading to C. deck is locked?"

"Do you mean to say that you are going to give that man-eating critter to anybody as a present? If so, where is the shotgun that goes along with her? And if that is a present for a friend, what would you bring her enemy? A sabre-toothed tiger, hand-grenade equipped?"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed the Champion as he took another look toward the door to C deck, "you have Donna Blanka down wrong. She is a wonderful dog. For two years she was pride of Berlin police department. Give her one 'sic 'em' and she chew leg off. Two 'sic 'em's' and she chew arm off. Maybe. Three 'sic 'em's' and you'd better run like hell and save what's left. Sometimes Donna Blanka not even need any 'sic 'em's' to make her chew."

The baying and howling down below ceased.

"Maybe," suggested Joe Jacobs,

Detroit—The New York Giants seem to have found the extra starting pitcher they were looking for in Hal Schumacher. He showed major league class yesterday when he weakened after eight great innings and allowed Detroit to put the tying and winning runs on base and then retired three men without a score.

New York—The Brooklyn Robins' first encounter with the New York Yankees has left Manager Max Carey greatly encouraged.

The Robins lost, 3-1 but Carey got excellent pitching from both Waite Hoyt and Bill Clark who set down the heavy slugging American leaguers with six hits.

New York—The baseball season will open in four days and still Joe McCarthy is not satisfied with his New York Yankee infield.

Against Brooklyn yesterday McCarthy shifted Frank Crosetti to third base and Lynn Lary to his old post at shortstop in an effort to get Lary regularly into the lineup. Crosetti, however, seemed scarcely at home at third base.

Indianapolis, Ind.—Manager Lew Fonseca will use the "spot" system in juggling his White Sox pitchers this year.

"Certain pitchers are more effective against certain clubs and weak against others, so I intend to use them where they can show the best instead of employing the old rotation method," Manager Fonseca said. "The Yankees will see a lot of Sam Jones and Hadley, the Browns and Red Sox of Thomas and soon. It isn't a new system but it's a good one."

"Donna Blanka has found a stray sailor and we can slip down."

Each man armed himself with a belayin' pin and crept down the stairs. Jacobs was right. As we hurried by the ship's concert room we spied Donna Blanka in the act of polishing off a Second Assistant Purser.

"He was a nice guy, too," said Max as he hustled down the gang plank. "I think I get Jack Sharkey about the ninth or tenth, maybe."

The Church Basketball League closed its schedule at the high school gymnasium last evening. The St. Anne's five going through with a perfect record of no defeats to win the championship. Little close on their heels was the Christian church team with the loss of but one game. The Baptists team forfeited their final game to the winners of the tournament last evening. The league played its schedule under the direction of Prof. John Weiss of the high school faculty and the captains of the teams were as follows:

Habecker, Christians; Whitmore, Brethren; Withers, St. Patrick's; Williams, Lutheran; Cooper, Methodists; Marshall, Baptists; and Barthelmess, Evangelical.

Murrie Grove was the captain and center for the St. Anne's team champions of the league. He was surrounded by a squad of capable supporters as follows: Walter Mitchehan, Edward Grove, forwards; Murrie Grove, center and captain; George Curless, Arthur Klein, Harry Mosher and John Grove, guards.

Shoe Co. Baseball
Team Being Formed

A roster of 25 applicants have reported for spring training, seeking positions on the William B. Johnson Shoe Company baseball team this season. The independent field has been leased by the team management for the coming season and practice sessions are held several days of the week. Floyd Egler has been elected manager and is assembling a squad of applicants who are being given trials for regular positions on the team which will represent the local shoe factory during the coming summer months.

A spirited practice session was conducted yesterday afternoon and another is scheduled for Sunday afternoon. The team will be uniformed in regulation baseball suits, brown grey in color and bearing the insignia of the William B. Johnson Shoe company of this city. It is planned to book games from surrounding cities both at home and abroad during the summer and in the early fall, the local team will doubtless participate in a tournament with teams of other of the Brown Shoe Company's plants in the southern section of the state.

Rockford Given
Western Amateur
Rockford, Ill., April 9.—(UP)—The Western Amateur golf tournament today was awarded to the Rockford Country Club and will be played Aug. 29 to Sept. 3, club officials announced.

The award marked the first time in its 33-year history that the tournament will be held in a city as small as Rockford. The championship was played last year at Portland, Ore., and the year previously at Beverly Country Club, Chicago.

The Rockford club is among the oldest in the Midwest. It was organized in 1900. The course has watered fairways.

Western Golf Association officials said selection of the Rockford course was in the nature of an experiment and if successful might result in occasional scheduling of the meet in smaller cities.

College Boxers To Seek Team Places

State College, Pa., April 9.—(AP)—The college boys served definite notice today that Uncle Sam's 1932 Olympic boxing team may be dominated by the first time by youths from the land of leamings.

The two-day tournament of the National Collegiate Association to develop college material for the Olympic team try-outs in San Francisco July 20, 21 and 23, has passed into the semi-final stage, and 32 youngsters stand eligible to oppose Army, Navy, and Amateur Athletic Union qualifiers for places on the team.

The tournament opened in the Penn State gymnasium yesterday with 66 entries from 33 colleges and universities.

Illinois U. Mat
Star Is Barred

Urbana, Ill., April 9.—(UP)—Joe Puerta, national inter-collegiate wrestling champion in the 123 pound division and a member of the University of Illinois not team, has been barred from Olympic trials because he is not a citizen of the United States it was revealed here today.

Coach H. Kenney of the University announced that he had sought to enter Puerta in the June tryouts at Columbus, but discovered that the youth had been born in Spain and that his father, after moving to New Mexico, failed to take out citizenship papers.

Puerta is a junior and co-captain of the Illinois wrestling team. He was his collegiate title in the recent national meet sponsored by the University of Indiana.

WRITERS SETTLE
BASEBALL RACES;
WHY PLAY GAMES?Same Old Story Told In Voting By 67 Of
The Experts

New York, April 9.—(AP)—If 67 of the nation's baseball writers can't be wrong, only the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants of the National League, and the Philadelphia Athletics and the New York Yankees of the American, figure to have any chance of participating in the world series in October.

Briefly, the experts, casting ballots in the Associated Press' sixth annual major league pennant poll, pick the Cardinals and the Athletics to repeat, with the Yankees strong second choices in the American League and the Giants lukewarm alternates in the National.

If the consensus is right the clubs will finish this way:
National—St. Louis, New York, Chicago, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Boston.

American—Philadelphia, New York, Washington, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston and Chicago.

The poll indicated strong faith in the ability of the Cardinals to win the National League crown for the third year in a row. Forty-eight writers were content to string along with the world champions while 15 picked the Giants. Thus these two clubs accounted for 63 first place ballots. Of the four, three went to the Cubs and one, believe it or not, to the improved Phillies.

In the American League, the battle of ballots was much closer. Sixty-six of the 67 first place votes went either to the Athletics or the Yankees, the final count standing 38 for the A's and 23 for Joe McCarthy's men. The only other first place ballot was cast for the Cleveland Indians.

Although the experts had little trouble picking the leaders, they ran into all kinds of difficulties in trying to rate the other members of each league. Particularly was this true in the National, where Brooklyn, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, all received votes for the doubtful distinction of finishing in last place. Brooklyn polled two votes for that post, Pittsburgh, 7, Philadelphia, 15, Cincinnati 19, and Boston 24.

On the other hand the Phillies received one vote for first place and one for third; Brooklyn polled one vote for second place as did Cincinnati. One writer also thought the Pirates would finish as high as third.

The voting was close for the last four positions in the American League but none of the four given votes at a local symposium, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston or Chicago, received votes for any position higher than fourth position.

Western Crews To Meet Late Today

Seattle, Wash., April 9.—(AP)—Rowing interest centered in Seattle as the half frozen crews of California and Washington awaited the starter's signal in the 29th annual Pacific coast regatta on Lake Washington late today.

Only in one race was an outstanding favorite selected. The experts were giving Washington the three-mile junior-varsity event by several lengths. California was given a slight edge in the two-mile freshman battle.

The feature race, the three-mile varsity struggle, was figured to be closer than this year's family budget.

The weather man offered a mixture of rain, wind and white-caps, everything except racing weather.

Poison Grass Is Found In Pasture

San Francisco, April 9.—(AP)—W. W. Vincent, Chief of the Western Division of the United States Bureau of Foods and Drugs, said today he had found poison grass in a pasture that supplied forage for Phar Lap, Australian thoroughbred race horse, which died last Tuesday.

"The spray," Vincent said, "was undoubtedly blown into the field from oak trees sprayed with the poison March 31."

Phar Lap died at the Ed Perry ranch at Atherton. The oak trees surround the field in which he was allowed to roam.

Vincent said if further tests revealed the spray had fallen widely over the grass "there will be little doubt but that Phar Lap's death mystery will be solved."

Dr. Karl Meyer of the University of California said an incomplete analysis had failed to show any trace of poison in Phar Lap's stomach. Veterinarians attributed the racer's death to colic.

Another Fool Rule
From Boxing Board

New York, April 9.—(AP)—Following the precedent it set in declaring that Billy Petrolle defeated Bat Battalino in 12 rounds instead of scoring a technical knockout over the Hartford batter, the New York State Athletic Commission has revised its rule concerning knockouts.

Only when the count of ten is tolled over a boxer will he be called a knockout victim. The revised rule, just handed out, says: "The following decision shall be rendered when a referee intervenes to save a boxer in distress from further punishment: Contest stopped or unable to continue—wins."

Carpentier Will Also Try Comeback

New York, April 9.—(AP)—The name of Georges Carpentier has been added to the list of veteran boxers who plan to try the "comeback" feat.

The French heavyweight who was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in Jersey City eleven years ago, started his campaign to return to the ring at a local gymnasium yesterday. Carpentier plans two months of hard training and then two or three trial bouts in Europe.

"If I'm satisfied with my condition then," he said, "I shall return to this country, ready to take on any man in the world."

COACH AT NOTRE DAME UNIV. NOT
FOR NEW RULESSays Changes Will Retard
Cage Game
After A Trial

South Bend Ind., April 9.—(AP)—A series of trials of the new rule designed to cure "stalling" in basketball has convinced Coach George Keegan of Notre Dame that the proposed measure will be more detrimental to the game than beneficial.

The rule, endorsed at the recent meeting of the National Basketball Coaches' Association, calls for a line to be drawn across the middle of the playing floor over which the offensive team must advance the ball within ten seconds of the time they take possession in back court or lose the ball out of bounds to the defensive team.

Four regulation games were played at the Notre Dame court to test out the proposed rule. After the experiments, Coach Keegan, regarded as one of the "Big Ten" of the nation's hardwood coaches, drew up the following conclusions:

1. The rule is strictly in favor of the defense whereas it was devised to speed up the offense.

2. Play is jammed into a 45-foot area, making it impossible to use the back court to maneuver the defense out of position.

3. Scoring will be decreased to a minimum.

4. The number of held balls will increase 30 per cent.

"An offensive team cannot organize its attack until one of its players has carried the ball across the mid-court line," Coach Keegan explained. "This is due to the short time allowed to place the ball in an opponent's zone. Once over the line, the man cannot carry the ball back into court. The small 45-foot area enables the defensive team to cover each opponent closely, making it hard for a team to work the ball into the basket or in close scoring position. The effectiveness of speedy player like Johnny Wooden of Purdue will be nullified by such a measure."

As a solution, Coach Keegan suggests that the defensive team be forced to go down court after the ball when offensive team is ahead and refuses to advance the ball.

Bowling Tourney
Enters Last Lap

Detroit, April 9.—(AP)—The last lap in the race for the world's team crown in the annual American Bowling Congress tournament begins tonight when 63 lineups swing into action.

Tomorrow night the remaining 64 of the 2,336 teams comprising the entry list will toe the foul line in an attempt to wrest the lead from the Verifiers of Milwaukee, unless they are dethroned in the interim.

Prominent among those competing on tonight's card are the S. & L. Motors, Chicago, who copped the 1931 championship at Buffalo with a 3,013 total.

Dollar Racing Is Planned In Cicero

Chicago, April 9.—(AP)—Chicago is to have dollar racing. The new Sportsman's Park, half mile track at Cicero, has cut the admission price to one dollar, plus tax, for the grandstand. Club house prices will be two dollars, plus tax. The track opens May 2.

Chick Evans Leads
In Midwest Tourney

French Lick, Ind., April 9.—(AP)—Charles (Chick) Evans, the famous "boy wonder of golf" 16 years ago, was in front of the field as the drive for the first midwest amateur championship entered the second round today.

Evans waded through the rain yesterday to tally a 73 for the first 18-hole round to take a three shot lead in the 54-hole fight for the title. His closest rivals were John Lehman, Chicago; Jimmy Man, St. Louis and Bill Heinlein of Indianapolis, who had 76's. Doug Casey, Chicago, was fifth with 77 and Jack Westland of Chicago, national amateur finalist at Beverly last year, one shot behind him.

A BOOK
A DAY

BY BRUCE CATTON

The man who sells his soul never thinks that it is for keeps. He always figures that sooner or later, when he has made his pile, he will be able to get his soul back again, wipe the mud of it and live the kind of life that his self-respect requires.

The only trouble is that it will never work out that way. The day when he is to pull out of his dirty business never comes; or, if it does, he finds that it has come too late and that his soul is soiled past cleaning.

In "The Great Day," George Catton has written a thick, somewhat monotonous novel dealing with just that point.

Her characters are mostly men and women who work for a conscienceless New York publisher—a man who prints the most pornographic of tabloids, the most sexy of magazines, the most suggestive of the "true confession" yarns. Intermixed with them, just to touch up the picture in its proper light, are assorted ladies of easy virtue.

One and all, these people look toward the great day when they can get out of their disgusting business and do something decent. Miss Carnal devotes herself to showing how and why they fail.

As a commentary on the prices which these people pay for success in the metropolis, her book is savage and ruthless. Considered strictly as a novel, it is not quite as successful as it might have been. It is overlong, the moral is stressed too heavily, and there is a rather unbelievable venture in sex toward the end, that may distress the sensitive.

ROBBER IDENTIFIED

Chicago, April 8.—(AP)—Chief of Detectives William Shoemaker was informed by telegraph today that Edward Bennett, indicated for bank robbery and kidnapping in Waukegan yesterday, has been identified as participant in the robbery of the Northwest Davenport State Bank last Dec. 7, when $10,000 was taken. The wire came from Chief Harry Ward of the Davenport, Ia., police. Bennett was indicted yesterday in connection with robberies of the State Bank of Mundelein, Ill.

THE NEWEST Motor Car Style

Slip-Stream Design

Come to our showroom and see a really different motor car style—the Slip-Stream body. It's new. It's modern. It's unusually beautiful.

Along with its new distinction in appearance it has the great value of actually making Nash performance even finer because of its aerodynamic design.

Frontal air resistance is reduced by the V-radiator and sloping windshield for their aerodynamic contours go "with" the wind instead of "against" it as do the old-style snub-nose radiator and upright windshield.

At the same time the body taper and Beavertail back minimize rear end vacuum "hold-back," because Nash slip-streams both rear and front.

Thus power-waste is avoided and miles are added to Nash top speed.

Prices at the factory range from $777 to $2055. Wheelbases from 116 inches to 142 inches.

BREAKING LAW OF LOVE WORST SIN OF HUMANS

Grady Cantrell Told Of Greatest Sinner Friday Evening

Grady Cantrell, evangelist, last night preached upon "The Biggest Sinner in Dixon." The great tabernacle was crowded by interested listeners. Delegations were present from East Moline, where the Cantrell Party held a union meeting last spring and from Sterling. The Brotherhood Class of this city also turned out with a big delegation of men from that church.

Special musical numbers were furnished by the East Moline delegation which represented four or five churches of that city. The Sterling delegation headed by Rev. J. Q. Moore was from the First Christian church of that city. The visiting ministers assisted in the devotional services of the evening.

The young people, under the direction of Dick Choate, put on a pageant at the Christian church at 6:45 last evening. They have inaugurated a contest to stimulate interest in working for the revival. They hold their services at 6:45 at the Christian church each evening preceding the revival except Monday and Saturday. There will be services tonight, and each Saturday evening of the campaign. Ray Harris and the great chorus choir will lead in a great service of song inter-Rev. Cantrell will preach again tonight.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 a patriotic service will be held at which time Rev. Cantrell will speak upon "America, Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow." The civic and patriotic organizations of the city are invited to attend in delegations. Services nightly at 7:30 next week with the exception of Monday night, which is observed as rest night.

In last night's discourse Evangelist Cantrell stressed the necessity of observing the Law of God in human society in order to cure our social ills. The greatest sin, in the sight of God, he believes, is the person who violates this law. His sermon in part follows:

"One day a fellow said, 'Grady, what's the greatest sin?' I said, 'Brother it is when you break the greatest Commandment. And Jesus says the greatest Commandment is this, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind,' and the second is like unto it, 'And thy neighbor as thyself.' 'Do you love God with all your heart, soul and mind?' I said, 'Yes, I do.' 'Do you love your neighbor as thyself, or are you too lazy to go to church or do His Commandments?' 'Do you love God with all your mind, or are you too lazy to read His Word?' 'Do you put God first, or your business and pleasure? When you break this Commandment you commit the greatest sin.' 'Why Your Neighbor Is as thyself.' 'Jesus said, 'And thy neighbor as thyself.' 'The drunk man loved his neighbor and gave him a drink. Let us love our neighbor and give them to drink of the Water of Life.' 'Do you love your neighbor as thyself, or is your love narrowed by our creeds? We treat ourselves so nice. Do we treat others the same? Do we love the Germans, and the Japanese? Do we love the Negro or do we strive to make him feel his inferiority? Do Protestants love Catholics? Do Catholics love Protestants? Do we see horns sprouting on every creed but our own? Jesus never said that we had to visit and intermarry, but to love and do good to everyone that we come in contact with.

"For twenty centuries this old world has fought and struggled and stained the earth with blood and tears. Yet Jesus said 'Ye are brothers.' 'Good Samaritan Modernized' 'One day a big smart aleck, infidel lawyer thought he could slip one over on Jesus and as he stepped up to Him he looked over his shoulder and winked at the gang and asked 'What shall I do to inherit eternal life?' 'Jesus said, 'Do you ever read your Bible?' 'Oh yes, I'm all right there.' 'Well what does it say?' 'It says, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, strength, soul and mind, and thy neighbor as thyself.' 'That's fine, take the head of the class, live up to that and you'll be sittin' pretty.' 'But he had come with the gang not to find out about eternal life but to get Jesus in a hole and he didn't want the bunch to give him the horse laugh, so he sparred for time and said to save his face, 'Who is thy neighbor?' 'Then Jesus told him the story about the guy down at Jerusalem who backed his old car out of the garage, kissed his wife goodbye and started for Jericho. (This bird was a Jew). Well, there was a bunch of thugs down that road who jumped out and cracked him on the noodle, stripped him, then kicked him over to one side of the road and beat it.

"Well pretty soon a fine big car came rolling along with a preacher at the wheel. (He was a pastor of the big Jewish church at Jerusalem and this man was one of the members.) Did he stop? Oh no, he was too busy, besides, it might get the car messed up. No, he didn't have time to help that poor man out of the ditch. He ought to have had chains on anyway. But he did take a few notes and said, 'I'll preach a sermon against this awful sin of thievery and murder. Yes Yes that will make a very excellent sermon.' But that didn't help the poor dude in the ditch.

"There the poor devil lay in the heat of the day, his life blood slowly ebbing away. And who do you suppose showed up next around the corner? A big Pierce-Arrow, raising an awful dust—you could hear the rattle of gravel and smell the rubber as the car skidded to a stop. Behind the wheel sat a big business man, a Deacon in the church at Jerusalem. 'My stars!' you could hear him exclaim as his eyes fell on the poor fellow in the ditch. 'That gang has been at work again, here's a poor devil half dead,' as he punched the starter and gave her the gas. You could hear him mutter, 'I'm in an awful hurry to get to that board meeting at Jerico or I'd take him to the hospital.' And to ease his own conscience he probably said, 'This is a shame, I'll call the City Council together and see if these thugs can't be caught—yes, yes, it's awful.' But that didn't help the poor devil out of the ditch.

"Down the road comes an old one-lung Ford, sput put ka choo. Who is that in the seat? It's a Samaritan—will he help? I should say not. If there ever was anyone that hated each other it was the Jews and Samaritans. They were racial, political and religious enemies. They were so bitter they made the Ku Klux Klan and Knights of Columbus look like a 'pettin' party,' so we expect the Samaritan to pass by with his nose in the air. But did he? No sir! It did not make any difference about the rest of the tribe, he was going to obey God. He never said a word but loaded that poor Jew into his car, took him to the hospital and paid the bill. No air about that Samaritan.

"The church's job is not to see how big, great and influential she can become, but to get down in the ditch and help people up to God. 'And that's what Jesus wants. It's not hot air. It's not visiting. It's not theology. It is doing.

QUEER FACTS ABOUT THE PHILIPPINES

Some of Uncle Sam's primitive subjects in the far-off Philippines, and the manner in which they live, are shown here. At the left is the home of a Manobo tribesman, erected in a tree for the owner's defense; in circle, an Igorrote head-hunter with some of his trophies; in square, a native girl high school graduate who is a typical example of the progress brought about by education; next, two Filipino jazz musicians and their native instruments. At the right is General Emilio Aguinaldo, long-time leader in the move for Philippine independence who directed the insurrection against the United States forces a generation ago. The map shows the major islands in the group of more than 7000.

USE U. S. TOBACCO — "Manilla wrappers" used on the Philippine cigars are now imported from Connecticut. Formerly they came from Sumatra, but at the protest of American tobacco interests, the Philippine legislature increased its tariff duty on tobacco wrappers for cigars with this result.

Government is conducted by a Philippine legislature, elected by the people, but the American governor general — appointed by the President — may veto any act the native legislature may pass. If re-enacted over the governor's objection, final decision lies with the President at Washington, D. C. Local government is conducted by natives.

Despite their national pastime of head-hunting, the Igorrotes have everyone else on the islands beaten for thrift and industry. They have the most remarkable system in the world of terracing rice fields, learned from the Japanese.

About two-thirds of the over 12,000,000 natives are Roman Catholic, as the result of centuries of Spanish rule. There are about a half million Protestants, a million Moslems and a half million pagans on the islands.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

ALVIN WARREN HE IS ENTITLED TO EVERY FARMER'S VOTE.

170-THIRDS OF STATES VOTING OVER 2 TO 1 WET

Literary Digest Reports on 4,000,000 Ballots Polled

Thirty-two States representing a combined population of over 85,000,000 are voting from two to one to six to one wet as more than 4,000,000 ballots are tabulated in this week's returns of The Literary Digest's nation-wide Prohibition Poll according to figures published in the magazine tomorrow.

Nine states with a total population of over 19,000,000 register a dry sentiment of 40 per cent or more. Of these states Kansas alone gives a definite majority for continuance of the Prohibition Amendment, while North Carolina is almost dry.

The wettest section of the United States as evidenced by the poll figures extends from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic Ocean above the Mason-Dixon Line, with the dampest concentration in the group of states of New Jersey, New York, Connecticut and the state of Rhode Island.

The driest sector is the belt of twelve states extending from Texas and Oklahoma to the Atlantic Ocean including Kentucky and Virginia and excepting Florida.

The Pacific Coast States are voting slightly over three to one wet, about the same as those wet states in the upper Mississippi Valley.

The Rocky Mountain section registers approximately three to two sentiment for repeal.

A total of 4,409,499 ballots are tallied this week of which 1,046,113 or 20.09 per cent vote for continuance of Prohibition and 2,963,386, or 73.91 per cent are for repeal.

The dry vote shows a seventh consecutive gain during the poll rising from 15.85 per cent of the total vote of the first week's returns.

Nevada continues to lead the Anti-Prohibition column increasing its wet vote again this week to 87.73 per cent.

The District of Columbia is still voting over three to one in the favor of wets.

As an answer to charges that the Poll does not represent the women of the nation, The Literary Digest tomorrow will publish returns of a special referendum of all registered voters of Portland, Maine, which was selected. It is stated, because it was one of the oldest Prohibition centers in the country.

The canvass was so arranged, announcement is made, that the ballots returned by women voters could be distinguished from those returned by men voters and still remain secret ballots.

14,598 ballots were mailed to men and 11,965 were mailed to women, the total of which constituted the entire registered electorate of the city.

Of 3,981 replies returned by men 770, or 24.36 per cent voted dry, and 3,011, or 75.64 per cent voted wet.

Of the 11,958 ballots mailed to the women, 1,126, or 38.45 per cent voted for continuance of the Prohibition Amendment and 1,802, or 61.55 per cent voted for repeal of the law.

Not including the Portland votes the state of Maine balloted 7,826 for continuance and 17,863, or 69.5 per cent for repeal.

With the votes from Portland included, the state of Maine shows 9,522 dry votes and 22,676, or 69.57 per cent wet votes.

The Literary Digest points out that in this comparison of where the exact number of women voting is known, the returns for the state of Maine show a percentage of 69.56 for repeal and the city of Portland shows a percentage of 69.67 for repeal.

"The most important effect of this extraordinary test should be, it seems to us," The Literary Digest will state in its issue tomorrow "to convince every reasonable person in American not only that the poll gives full expression to the will of the women of America as a whole, but also that it embodies the authentic voice of the whole people."

"Further, that every one of the other current carping on the poll by professional carpers amounts to so much 'blah-blah' and weariness of the ear-drums."

"The Digest does all that it possibly can with constant expenditure of time, labor and money to guard against defects creeping in to the poll."

"With jealous care it keeps on revising its list of 20,000,000 men and women. But in such a human roster—a nation in itself—could there be such a thing as 100 per cent accuracy?"

"The gossips apparently have no idea that returned ballots reaching The Literary Digest are examined by vigilant inspectors very quick to detect multiple ballots from the same post office, and the name of the state in the same hand-writing, and that all fraudulent ones detected are thrown from the count."

Dr. William Seaver Woods, Editor-in-Chief of the magazine, declares that he has received a number of complaints from people who claim to have received more than one ballot. This he accounts for by the fact that The Literary Digest is conducting supplementary polls of lawyers, bankers, doctors and clergymen concurrently with the main referendum, and the letter of instruction that accompanies the ballot in each of these minor polls informs the receiver that the additional ballot may be a duplication but that it WILL NOT be counted in the main poll.

What Most People Don't Know About Our 12,000,000 Brown Brothers to Whom Congress Proposes to Give Independence in 1940—

NEA Service—

Head-hunters and primitive tribesmen in a far-off and little-known island domain, where the light of civilization is still dim despite 30 years of American rule, are some of the strange fellow citizens whom Americans will lose if Philippine independence, just approved by Congress, eventually materializes.

Despite the fact that the United States has possessed the islands since the Spanish-American War, and the fact that modern cities have developed like Manila and that much progress has been made in some parts of the islands the remote hinterlands are still some of the least-known and the least developed spots in the whole world.

The strange people who inhabit them—head-hunters, Silu tribes, half-naked bushmen—nevertheless are full-fledged American citizens, since they live under United States law.

Instead of two, showed a total tabulation of 4,150,017 votes, of which 1,248,589 or 30.09 per cent, were for enforcement; 1,231,849, or 29.68 per cent were for modification; and 1,669,579 or 40.23 per cent, were for repeal.

Today IS THE WORLD WAR ANNIVERSARY of

NEW GERMAN DRIVE

On April 9, 1918, German troops launched their second offensive, against British and Portuguese positions in the Armentieres sector after heavy artillery preparation.

Several villages were taken and the British troops were pushed back by overwhelming numbers of enemy soldiers. At several points, German regiments reached the Lys river.

The objective of the drive was to cripple the British forces still further and to weaken other sections of the front by taking or threatening the channel ports.

French reserves were held in readiness for use on this front if they should be needed.

Premier Lloyd George of England asked the British Parliament to approve a man-power bill making every citizen between 18 and 50 eligible for the draft.

He urged immediate passage of such a measure, admitting that the situation in France was acute.

CALENDAR IDEA NOT NEW

Madison, Me. —(UP)—The idea of a 13-month calendar, being currently discussed, apparently dates back at least as far as 1804. The 13-month year is mentioned in a paper written by the grandfather of John W. Thurell, who is preserving the paper as a keepsake.

Dr. Rufus S. Tucker, economist recently estimated that "the total gain from the Philippines to all classes of American citizens, whether in profits from commerce investments or personal service, is less than $1,000,000 a year."

Instead of bringing additional income to the United States, the occupation of the Philippines costs the United States at least $4,000,000 a year, Philippine independence, say its advocates, will mean saving this sum and about $22,000,000 now expended by the American consumers on Philippine products (not including sugar) which enjoy a protected position on the American market. Thus, the net loss to the United States, on account of the Philippines is figured by them at $26,000,000 a year.

Among Uncle Sam's unusual subjects on the island of Mindanao is the Sultan of Sulu—a married man with 50 wives—and no children. Head of the fierce Moro tribesmen, he comes from a direct line of rulers whose reign dates back before the days of Magellan's discovery.

"Once a Sulu, always a Sulu," proved true in the case of the Sultan's niece, Princess Tarhata Kiram, who was a student at the University of Illinois several years ago. She was a typical bobbed-haired flapper and popular at campus dances—but she returned to the land of harems and 15-year-old brides and "went native."

HEAD HUNTERS—

Head-hunting and human sacrifices are said to be still practiced in remote sections seldom penetrated by white men. The bolo is the native weapon, the usual attire is a pair of brass earrings and a loin cloth, and slavery, though officially out-lawed, still persists.

Curious native superstitions are numerous among the little black pygmies and dwarf men found on some of the islands. They believe a man's soul enters his body when he is born, through the soft spot on the top of his head—and leaves it the same way at death.

The value of the Philippines from a military standpoint has long been debated. Naval officials insist it is vital that America's naval bases there be retained at all costs. In the words of Admiral Hilary Jones, "so vital that I consider their abandonment tantamount to abandonment of our ability to protect our interests in the Far East."

Many statesmen and army officials do not see it that way. Former President Roosevelt said, in 1914, that if the United States were attacked by an Asiatic power, the Philippines would be "our heel of Achilles." Secretary of War Garrison declared "the Philippines are a military liability to the United States." General Enoch Crowder is reported to have declared that "the plans of the general staff provide that, in case of war, any attempt to keep a traffic lane open between the United States and the Philippines would be promptly avoided."

MAGELLAN SLAIN—

When Magellan the Spanish explorer, discovered the islands in 1521, he and the chief of Cebu drank each other's blood as a token of good will and friendship. Later, Magellan was killed by natives.

After three centuries under the rule of Spain there were less than 250,000 children in school. Eighteen days after Manila fell, General Otis, opened seven schools with soldiers and sailors teaching with the textbooks he had brought with him; later 600 school teachers were brought on an army transport. Today there are 1,200,000 pupils in school there, and the government is spending $15,500,000 a year—or a fourth of its total revenue—for education.

On the average, Filipino pupils remain in school less than three years. After leaving school, not one per cent of them speak English in their homes; only 10 or 15 per cent use it in their occupations. Result: smattering of English learned in three years at school soon disappears.

Seventy-two per cent of the Philippines total production is rice, but in addition $1,000,000 worth of rice has to be imported yearly. Exports are largely sugar, hemp, coconut oil, tobacco, and cigars.

Government is conducted by a Philippine legislature, elected by the people, but the American governor general — appointed by the President — may veto any act the native legislature may pass. If re-enacted over the governor's objection, final decision lies with the President at Washington, D. C. Local government is conducted by natives.

Scalping is not always fatal. Several instances have been recorded where early settlers went through this ordeal and recovered. Thomas Cahone, with a party of friends, was fishing near Sidney, Neb. when a band of Sioux Indians swooped down upon them. Although pierced by eight arrows, Cahone never lost consciousness, even during the actual scalping.

The perfume of a rose comes from within the petals. An oily chemical is manufactured within the tiny cells, and it is this oil that gives off the odor. But roses were not scented for the benefit of mankind. Mother Nature intended that the perfume should attract insects, and that insects should fertilize the blossoms.

Sidelights In News In Capital Of United States

BY THE UNITED PRESS

Washington, April 9.—The annual spring shipment of new limousines for the White House arrived this week on the heels of the President's appeal to the country to buy automobiles.

Spick and span, these last-minute models with the White House crest on their doors have brightened up the atmosphere around the old mansion.

They were exchanged for the old models at no cost to the government. The motor car manufacturers themselves replace the White House fleet every year.

Nine motor cars are regularly assigned to the White House. Each is operated under contract with the company that makes the machine. The government pays so much a year—the amount was not divulged—for the use of the car.

"None of the machines is owned by the White House," a member of the Presidential secretariat said. "They are replaced each spring, and the White House does not buy them."

The makes assigned to the use of President and Mrs. Hoover and others at the White House include Pierce Arrows, Lincolns and Cadillacs.

One is assigned to each of the President's three secretaries. The President has one, Mrs. Hoover has one, and the others are "guest cars." In addition, there are two trucks used for various purposes.

The 11 chauffeurs are paid for out of the transportation fund. "The motor car companies themselves favor the annual exchange," an attaché said. "They do not want a last-year's model of their machine to be seen in use by the President or bearing the White House official crest. It works out satisfactorily and economically all around."

Interest in politics is so high this year that politicians have become good box office added attractions with dance orchestras, musical comedy stars and Broadway entertainment programs.

Radio advertisers have called upon the national politicians to speak over nationwide networks to help advertise something or other—and have found it so profitable in public interest they have paid more for a few minutes of program time than a government clerk makes in a year.

Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York was Thursday night's political entertainer. Alfred E. Smith and even Senator Fess have been imported for one of the leading commercial radio programs.

Visitors to the House and Senate galleries comment that Congress is a joke. One of the funniest shows running in New York is a burlesque picture of Washington in action. The Baltimore Evening Sun gets a comic column for its editorial page merely by clipping short excerpts from the Congressional Record. But this is the first time that a big business concern has seen the box office value of a politician.

It is not far to these political performers to imply that they are cast as comic characters necessarily. Some politicians are comical, some are interesting and informative, and some are just merely tiresome. Radio people say the advertisers are bringing in politicians of their entertainment programs to attract an additional class of listeners. The politicians in turn are glad of the chance to get in a few words at the waiting audience. Thus far they have played their acts straight. Apparently their radio impressions like them better that way than if they tried to be funny.

This rising box-office appeal of politics is manifest in many other ways. Books and magazine articles about Washington are consuming tons of paper. Washington officials

BEGIN HERE TODAY

SUSAN CAREY, who lives with her aunt Jessie on Chicago's west side, has an unpleasant experience when she applies for her first job. BOB DUNBAR, millionaire's son whom Susan had met at business school, comforts her. She secures employment as secretary to ERNEST HEATH, prominent architect. BEN LAMP-MAN, a moody young admirer of Susan's, invites her to a studio party given by some Bohemian friends. Susan does not enjoy the affair and decides not to see Lamp-man any more. Weeks pass and the girl is lonely. JACK WARING, Heath's assistant, and disinterested shows the girl attentions but she refuses his invitations.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER X

ON the way home in the hard brightness of the street car Ben said, "That's the way to live. Like Sonya and Arnold. Free and easy." Susan stared at him. "You like that?"

Ben moved impatiently. "Oh, I knew what you'd say. I know the apartment's kind of messy. But they're not tied down. They live their own lives and have a good time."

Susan felt a hysterical impulse to laugh but she restrained herself. She had thought the whole crowd, the Strinskys and their unwashed friends (with the exception of that exotic blossom, Denise), dreadful people.

She let her hand lie limply in Ben's warm one at parting. "I can't ask you to come in," Susan said gently. "Aunt Jessie's gone to bed. Thank you for taking me to the party."

Ben muttered, "Wanted you to meet the crowd. You'll like them better when you know them. They're real people."

Susan withdrew her hand. "Good night, then," she said, avoiding his hot, uncomfortable gaze. He called after her, "I'll phone you." Susan waved to him through the screen door, glad the tiresome evening was over. There was something almost frightening about Ben's intensity. Even when he had talked of the Strinskys' romance he had made it seem a personal matter.

Those dreadful people! Their way of living might seem ideal to Ben Lampman but it certainly did not to Susan. She would not go there again.

BUT as summer waxed and waned the girl almost regretted her decision. Chicago's Bohemia might not be the social background she desired but loneliness was hard to bear and the warm nights brought with them an aching sense of missing something.

Rose Milton went to Sweetbrier Lake for two weeks and wrote back glowing accounts of her conquests. She sent snapshots of herself, the center of a merry mixed group. Susan, tossing sometimes on a hot and disordered bed, listening to the raucous music of the radio next door, would wonder about life. She was 19, not unattractive, intelligent. What promise was there ahead for her? Even if she held the job at Ernest Heath's (and it looked as if she might, with Miss O'Connell's convalescence lengthening out) what had she to look forward to?

Next year she might get $22 a week. In five years she might even be making $35. Well, what then? She would stay on with Aunt Jessie in the cottage. She would be 25, she would be 30, 35. She would begin to wear eyeglasses and go to lectures in the evening with some woman friend. She would be one of the brave, ever-increasing army of unmarried women workers in the Loop district. They had their two weeks' vacation, their one presentable suit. They wore neat,

HE leaned across the table, his blue eyes darkening as he stared at her frankly, quite as if he'd never seen her before.

"I like you in that pink thing," he said slowly. And a strange thing happened. The room, the other lunchers, the waiters murmuring in a corner, the music muted from the strings of a discreet orchestra, all seemed to vanish. The boy and girl were alone. Yet all she said was, "Thank you." Her voice shook ever so little as she formed the words.

"I'm going abroad again," said the boy, still looking at her strangely and deeply. "Father wants me to. I wanted to say goodbye."

The words rang like a knell in Susan's heart yet, being a woman, she summoned a fixed smile to answer him.

"Going abroad?" she repeated, feeling rather stupid yet unable for the moment to find other words.

He frowned and played with his fork. "Yes. Thought I was to stay here and go into the business."

She said "I'm sorry" and the words struck her as being painfully inadequate.

"So am I." His mouth twisted whimsically as he looked at her. "It hasn't all gone as I thought it would. I wanted to be friends."

The waiter arrived with a tray of little silver dishes and Susan hated him. There was an interval and then they were alone again in the vast, scented, murmuring room once more.

"Well, that's that!" Bob Dunbar told her. His laugh sounded nervous and harsh. "Perhaps you'll still be around when I come back."

"When will that be?" "Oh, late fall—by Christmas, at the outside."

Christmas—Christmas—Christmas—Susan felt as though she were suffocating. To find love, all once, and have it snatched away. Those large, fringed eyes, gray and blue by turn, were raised to his.

"That's right. I wanted to tell you something. I would have before but the family's been pestering me all summer. Been keeping me out of town. Treating me like a kid in grade school. But you must know—you must have guessed before this—"

Susan felt joy suffusing her, washing over her like warm rain. Into the waters of this tete-a-tete she dropped the tines of a pebble. A girl's voice, slow and drawing and insolent, broke across Bob Dunbar's. The strange voice said, "Wherever have you been, darling? I've been missing you so."

Susan glanced up to find the red-haired girl who had been at the Strinskys' party staring impudently at her. But the words were addressed to Bob Dunbar who had sprung to his feet.

"Miss Ackroyd, this is Miss Carey," he said.

Susan wished the ground might open and swallow that red-haired girl, Denise.

(To Be Continued)

"I wanted to tell you something," Bob said. "You must know—you must have guessed before this—" sensible shoes and devoted themselves wholeheartedly to the concern for which they labored.

Susan said to herself that it wouldn't be so bad if the average secretary could see herself getting ahead as a young man might, using the office as a stepping stone to higher places. The typical girl worker, however, poured her energy, her sympathy and her intelligence into the job and unless she met with exceptional luck or extraordinary favoritism she might work 10, 15, 20 years without any recognition beyond the weekly pay envelope whose sum remained discouragingly small.

SHE was young, she was lonely, she was good. Sometimes, during those warm, disturbing summer nights Susan wondered if it paid. She wondered if she might not, some day, answer the invitation in Jack Waring's eyes. She wondered if that seat in his sport roadster might not prove altogether too alluring some evening. Susan hoped not but she wondered.

The telephone rang one morning when she was alone in the office. "Hello. Miss Carey?"

The girl's heart, for no good reason, began to beat thickly and uncomfortably.

"This is Bob Dunbar. Be an angel and have lunch with me at one? Right? How about the Blackstone?"

Susan hung up the receiver with a gasp. The Blackstone, and she was wearing her old pink shawl! Well, her hat was new. It was a little rose pink straw she had picked up on a basement counter for $1.50. You would never have guessed the price. In a fever of excitement she waited for Pierson to come back to relieve her. With trembling fingers she pressed the small hat into place. If only she had known, if only she had guessed he was going to call her! She might have had a manure. She might have worn her more sophisticated blue crepe. She might have done a thousand things!

Disappointed, almost in tears, at last she picked up her hand bag and turned to go. Pierson's whining voice followed her.

"Don't forget to be back by two, sharp. Mr. Heath has that categorical estimate he wants to draw up."

mobile industry was cheered as Ford reported orders for 300,000 new models.

ROOSEVELT BAND-WAGON FACES AMBUSH BY FOES IN PRIMARY BATTLES SLATED FOR APRIL

Smith Cohorts Prepare For Last Stand

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

Washington — The presidential bandwagon of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, now goes hurtling into four large states which must choose delegates to the Democratic national convention before the end of April.

The governor's political enemies will try to tear a wheel off. If they can't do it on April 26th in the primaries of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania, following the Illinois and Nebraska primaries on April 12 and the Michigan state convention April 14th, Roosevelt probably will be nominated very promptly when the convention meets at Chicago.

A group of powerful anti-Roosevelt leaders still hope to head him off. They include Al Smith, Frank Hague of New Jersey and National Chairman Raskob. A majority of state leaders over the country apparently favor the governor.

Other candidates have lagged so far behind Roosevelt when they have clashed, that political experts now nearly unanimously as to the great likelihood that he will be the champion opponent of President Hoover, who will certainly be renominated by the Republicans.

Roosevelt now has 159 delegates certain to vote for him on the first ballot. They come from Washington, New Hampshire, Minnesota, North Dakota, Georgia, Maine, Iowa, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

Governor Al Smith, Bill Murray has 22 from Oklahoma and one from North Dakota. Ex-Senator Jim Reed has 36 from Missouri who probably will not be with him after the first ballot. Louisiana, Arkansas and the Philippines have chosen a total of 44 uninstructed delegates and New York will add 94 more. That makes 197 delegates accounted for but not pledged to Roosevelt.

But, although the governor has a majority on that count, he is believed to have considerable second choice strength and some of the uninstructed votes — perhaps including New York's 94 — will be for him on the first ballot.

His leaders say they will have at least 700 first ballot delegates and if that is true there probably will be enough delegations anxious to switch their votes to give him the required two-thirds figure of 770 without the necessary second roll call.

Such claims are about to be weakened or bolstered. Pennsylvania has 76 delegates, Massachusetts 36, Illinois 58, Michigan 36, Nebraska 16 and Alaska 6, with a primary April 24. A total of 230.

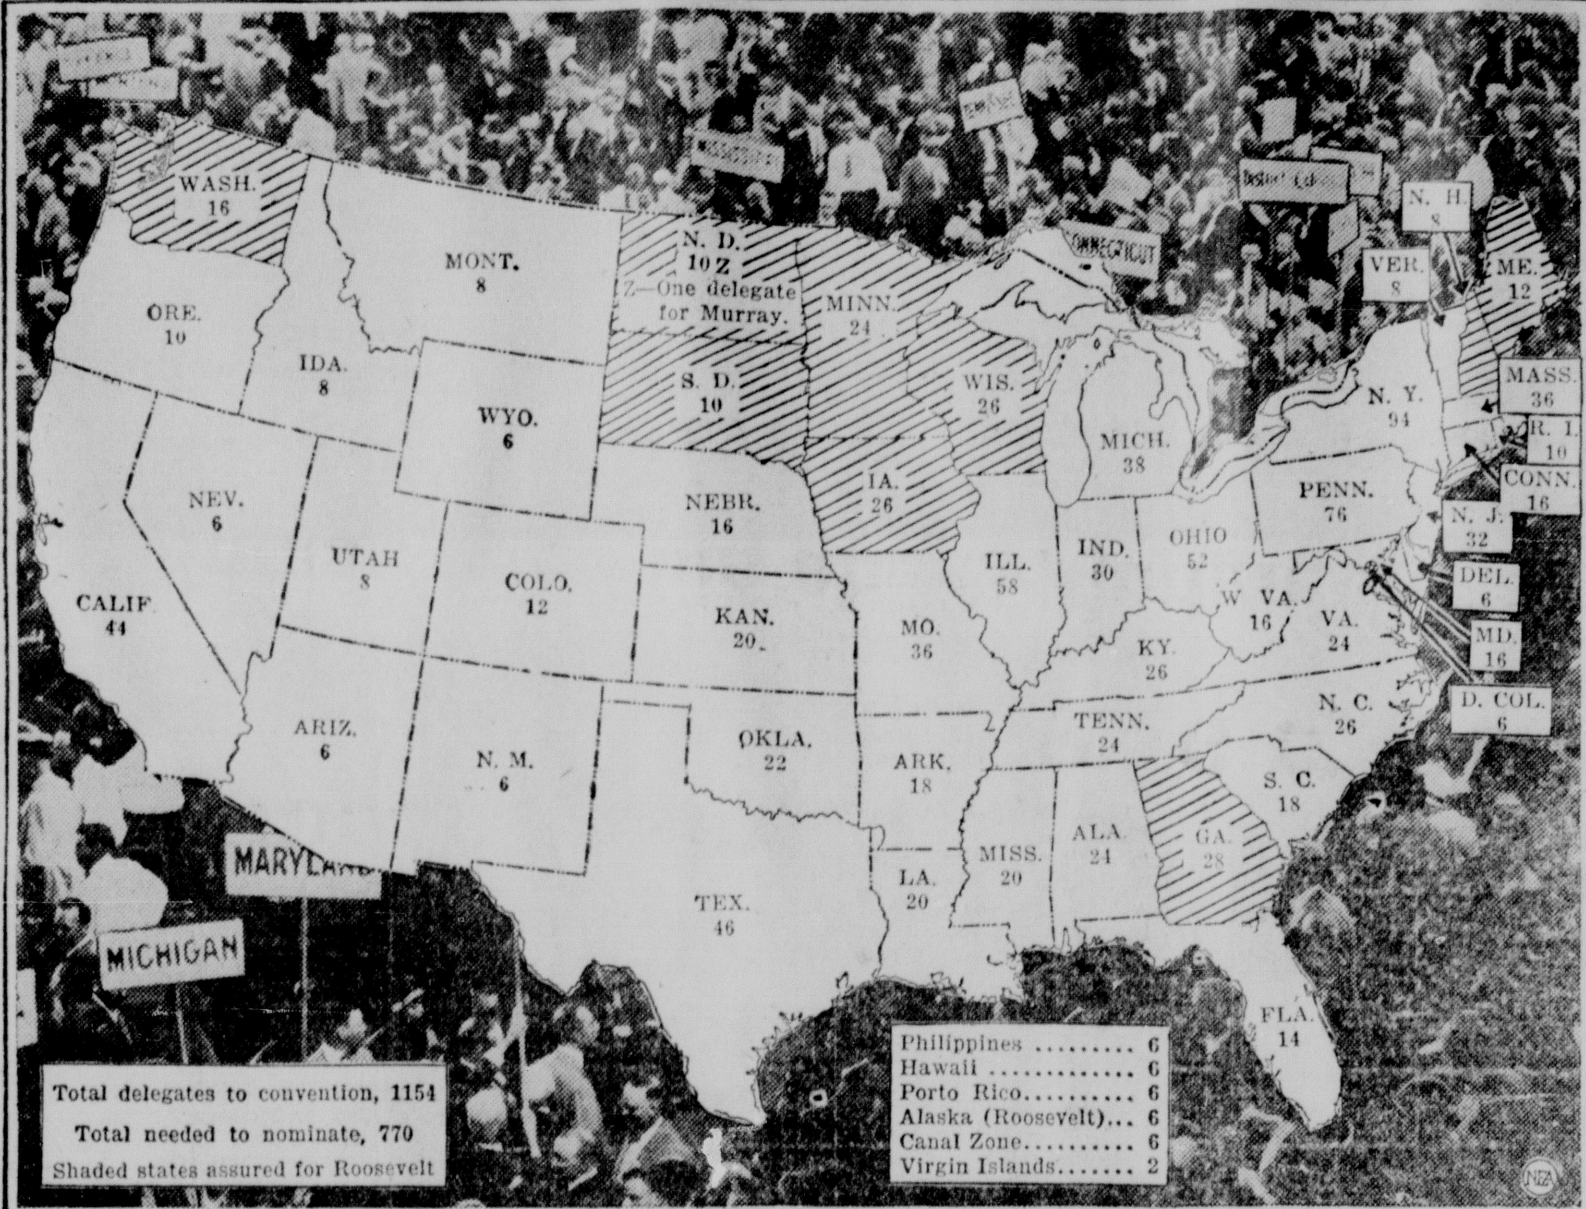

Roosevelt is reasonably sure of the 22 from Alaska and Nebraska, is strong in Michigan, is not entered in Illinois — whose delegation will support briefly the favorite son candidacy of Senator Jim Ham Lewis — and is scheduled for a possibly decisive showdown and drag out fight in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts.

His managers claim a large second choice strength among Illinois politicians, but it will be easier to assay that after the state convention April 22, which chooses delegates at large to add to the district delegates picked in the primary.

Murray and Speaker John N. Garner are entered against him in Nebraska's preference primary, the latter without his acquiescence or objection. Murray probably will run stronger than Garner, but his chances there have looked poor since Roosevelt licked him in the farm state of North Dakota and it appears that about 23 of the 30 candidates for delegate are favorable to Roosevelt.

Recent Democratic county conventions in Michigan showed a Roosevelt trend and if the state convention instructs the 38 votes for Roosevelt in the face of attempts to obtain an uninstructed slate the result will be an important addition to the string of similar convention victories in Maine, Iowa and Minnesota.

What every politician in the country looks forward to are the contests in Massachusetts and Distribution by states of delegates to the Democratic national convention and Governor Roosevelt's progress to date is shown in the map above. Governor Murray has been pledged the delegation from Oklahoma and one delegate from North Dakota, while the 36 Missouri delegates will cast a favorite son vote for ex-Senator Jim Reed on the first ballot.

Pennsylvania, where Democratic voters will choose from among Roosevelt delegates, Smith delegates and uninstructed delegates. Each faction brands the other's advance claims as absurd and ridiculous.

Recent reports have it that opposition to Roosevelt has bogged down in the Keystone state. Joe Guflay, powerful around Pittsburgh and chief Roosevelt leader, claims 66 Roosevelt delegates. Others estimate about 60. Even if Roosevelt gets only a majority, the outcome ought to put another bad crimp in the stop-Roosevelt movement.

National Committeeman Sedgwick Kistler and State Chairman John R. Collins favor Smith, however, and are said to be willing to go for Newton D. Baker if the opportunity occurs at the convention. They seek an unpledged delegation which they can manipulate.

As many delegates are running unpledged, the primary result may not be immediately evident. If the Roosevelt leaders can substantiate their advance claims in Massachusetts as well as in Pennsylvania there will be nothing to do at Chicago except write a platform and pick a man to run for the vice Presidency. They say they expect to elect 16 of the 36 delegates. The anti-Roosevelt men say they'll be lucky to get two or three.

The big state leaders of the Bay State Democracy are virtually all for Smith and they are campaigning as Smith delegates. Smith has always had great popular strength there and if the party voters can be persuaded in large numbers to desert both Smith and their favorite leaders — including the governor and two senators — the upheaval will be conclusive.

Here are the delegates definitely chosen for the convention: Washington, 16, Roosevelt; Louisiana, 20, uninstructed; Oklahoma, 22, Murray; New Hampshire, 8, Roosevelt; Minnesota, 24, Roosevelt;

North Dakota, 9, Roosevelt; Missouri, 36, Reed; Maine, 12, Roosevelt; Iowa, 26, Roosevelt; Philippines, 6, uninstructed; Arkansas, 18, uninstructed; Wisconsin, 26, Roosevelt.

Here's Schedule For Month

Delegates to the Democratic national convention for the presidential nomination will be chosen in the following states this month, with the date, the state, the manner of selection given in order:

Date	State	Manner	No.
Apr. 12	Ill.	Primary	58
Apr. 12	Neb.	Primary	16
Apr. 14	Mich.	Convention	38
Apr. 24	Alas.	Primary	6
Apr. 26	Mass.	Primary	36
Apr. 26	Pa.	Primary	76

ing unopposed in the primary election May 3. New York state leaders plan to take an uninstructed delegation of 94 to the convention.

In counting up the delegates as pledged and elected it is important to remember that the Roosevelt managers claim such uninstructed delegations as that of Arkansas and that Tammany Boss John F. Curry and other leaders with whom he expects to share control of the big New York delegation are thought to lean more heavily toward Roosevelt than anyone else.

JOKE TURNED OUT TO BE YOKE

Detroit — (UP) — Walter Davis' joke turned out to be a yoke—for eight hours. Davis, an automobile worker, snapped a huge tire lock around his neck for a joke. He wore the lock for eight hours while fellow workers toiled to release him. An acetylene torch freed him.

Smith Thankful To His Friends

New York, April 8 — (AP) — Alfred E. Smith, former Governor of New York, today sent a letter to the mayors of eight Connecticut cities announcing that he would accept the Democratic nomination for the Presidency and "will certainly welcome the support of my friends in Connecticut and will be very happy to stand solidly with them."

"It is an absurdity for any one to state that I will repudiate the action of my friends," the letter said. "The truth is I will stay with them and every one who knows me will have confidence in that statement."

"You call to my attention that there are now people whispering among the rank and file that I am speaking in the interest of another candidate. That is absolutely false and would be a betrayal of my friends, which I would never be guilty of."

NOMINATE JUDGE HENRY HORNER FOR GOVERNOR

Illinois needs his ability, judgment and integrity

STATE CANDIDATES

Recommended by the Democratic State Central Committee

United States Senator WILLIAM H. DIETERICH	Attorney-General OTTO KERNER
Governor HENRY HORNER	Clerk Supreme Court ADAM F. BLOCH
Lieutenant-Governor THOMAS F. DONOVAN	Representative in Congress-at-Large WALTER NESBIT
Secretary of State EDWARD J. HUGHES	Representative in Congress-at-Large MARTIN A. BRENNAN
Auditor of Public Accounts EDWARD J. BARRETT
State Treasurer JOHN C. MARTIN

Support this winning combination at the Primary Election, APRIL 12th

ASSURE A DEMOCRATIC VICTORY IN NOVEMBER

JUDGE HENRY HORNER has been tried and tested by thirty years of successful accomplishment in public affairs. As a public administrator he has handled billions of dollars in estates of deceased, minors and incompetent persons without loss of principal or interest.

He is a great executive, a man of fine ideals, and intensely practical in civic and political problems.

He is an acknowledged expert on such important problems as taxation, municipal home rule, and government economy.

He is thoroughly acquainted with the needs and desires of every community in our state and of all its people. The election of Judge Horner for Governor means a square deal to every portion of the state. He will be governor of the whole state, and not of one section or portion of it alone.
